Russian Submarine Boat Sinks. Two of Czar's Ships Collide.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 29.—The submarine boat Delfin sank at the moorings on the Neva, off the Baltic shipbuilding yard, this morning, with the loss of an officer, Lieut. Cherkasoff, and 20 men. The accident was due partly to the excessive number of the crew, mostly inexperienced men, and chiefly to the unfortunate attempt of a man to escape while his comrades were screwing down the manhole.

KRONSTADT, June 29.—The Russian battleship Navarin while returning to her anchorage today was rammed by the Russian cruiser Admiral Netron Menia, which struck her amidships. The damage to the Navarin is not serious, though it may be necessary to drydock the vessel.

DRIVEN INTO INNER WORKS

The Russians Lose Two More Strong Forts Defending Port Arthur.

TWO DAYS' FIGHTING

Kuropatkin Also Continues to Draws His Army Farther Back in Manchuria.

KUROKI FOLLOWING CLOSELY

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, June 30.—The Tokyo correspondent of the Morning Post says that the Japanese second army has effected a juncture with the first army and that the whole force now has a fighting front of 120 miles.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1904, by New York Herald Co.)

Tokyo, June 29.—Severe fighting took place at Kaiping on June 25, resulting in the capture of the place on the morning of the 26th.

A private telegram received by the Asahi (newspaper) states that on the 26th the Japanese army advanced from eastward of the hill at Lantunbashi against Port Arthur. A division, consisting of all arms, took the Huhaussan and Hsiteishan forts at 5:30 in the evening of the 26th and occupied them. The whole line was attacked. Despite the strong works, the Japanese casualties are stated to have been 100 killed and wounded, including five officers, two of whom are seriously wounded. The Russians had 40 killed and many wounded. The Japanese captured two large guns and much ammunition.

CHICAGO, June 29.—A special to the Daily News from Tokyo says: In fierce fighting which took place in the rear of Port Arthur Sunday, June 26, attack was simultaneous by the Japanese troops on three hills which were strongly fortified. After an overwhelming bombardment the mikado's men advanced and drove out the Russians.

Driven Into Inner Works.

CHEFOO, June 29.—(Special Cable.)—The report persists that the Japanese have captured Port Arthur, but it cannot be traced to any reliable source. It is said that a combined land and sea attack was begun Friday and that it continued practically without abatement until Sunday night, when the Japanese had made good their position inside the line of forts which constitute the first line of the inner defense and gained control of both sides of the valley through which the railroad enters Port Arthur. Through this break, it is said, Gen. Nodzu, who is in command of the besieging force, poured 40,000 infantry and field artillery, overwhelming the Russians and driving them back into the fortress itself. The Japanese are said to have lost heavily in the operation and to have inflicted heavy loss on the Russians as well. Gen. Fock, who commanded the Russians in the field, is said to have been badly wounded during the fighting.

LIAO-YANG, June 29.—The Japanese are reported to have retired 10 to 20 miles from the positions which they recently held. Owing to local rains, it is thought that the operations north of Port Arthur have been indefinitely postponed.

It is unofficially stated that the Russian fleet put out from Port Arthur several days ago and encountered the Japanese fleet. In the ensuing engagement between the two fleets three ships were lost. No details of the engagement, however, are available here.

Battling for His Life.

NIUCHWANG, June 29.—(Special Cable.)—Gen. Kuropatkin is fighting for his life at Hai-Cheng and Liao-Yang. He has been driven from the Liao-Tung peninsula and the Japanese now control the country from Ta-Schi-Kiao south and are pushing on to Hai-Cheng from both east and south. It is reported here that Samsonoff's division of 12,000 men has been cut off below Ta-Schi-Kiao and will be forced to surrender. There has been hard fighting at Ta-Schi-Kiao for the last two days and, according to the stories of refugees, the Japanese took possession of the railroad at that point this morning, the Russians returning on Hai-Cheng after having been subjected to heavy loss. It is said that Kuropatkin will not make any determined resistance at Hai-Cheng, holding that place only long enough to permit of the removal of stores, munitions of war and guns to Liao-Yang or Mukden.

Gen. Kuroki is threatening Liao-Yang from the northeast with a heavy force, and it is possible the Russian retreat will not stop until Tieling, above Mukden, is reached.

A Japanese force is expected here from Ta-Schi-Kiao at any moment. The Russians have withdrawn all their troops, and all of the stores and war munitions which were at this place have been sent on to Mukden.

A number of Japanese transports convoyed by cruisers are reported to be a short distance south of Yin-Kow. When the Japanese land forces take possession of the city it is believed troops will be at once landed here and a general army base be established.

Still Believe in Kuropatkin.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 29.—(Copyright Cable.)—For a week the imminence of a colossal battle in Manchuria has been announced. Gen. Kuropatkin is merely leading the enemy on by a series of apparent small victories, the Russian forces in the meantime retiring until the Japanese shall be drawn into the iron barrier prepared for them at Liao-Yang.

On the other hand, special correspondence from the front dated yesterday gives assurance of Gen. Kuroki's strong advance movement, which makes a big battle sure today, the place being given as the village of Hemitchen.

Gen. Kuroki has 70,000 men, with 50,000 under his immediate control. Gen. Stackelberg returned to Tachi-Chao whence in case of need he could go by rail to Yin-Kow or to Liao-Yang.

DESOLATION FOLLOWS FLOOD

Scores of Buildings Are Wrecked Along Robinson's Run.

BRIDGES ARE GONE

Public Square in Oakdale Is Piled High With the Wreckage.

GREAT DAMAGE IN McDONALD

The valley of Robinson run for miles along its course in Washington and Allegheny counties presents a scene of desolation. The towns of McDonald, Noblestown and Oakdale were inundated by Tuesday's flood. Bridges and dwellings were swept away, highways were obstructed and the whole area traversed by the torrent suffered damage which is estimated in the tens of thousands of dollars. It will be several days before the extent of the storm's havoc can be accurately determined.

McDonald will be a heavy loser. It is estimated that the borough will lose $15,000 on bridges and borough buildings. Besides this, the loss suffered by individuals will be much greater. Dwellings through the whole course of the valley have been swept from their foundations or damaged almost beyond repair.

Treetops Filled With Debris.

Grain fields are covered with sand and miles of fences have been swept away. The treetops are filled with debris, showing the height which the flood reached in its mad flight through the lowlands. Furniture and wearing apparel from the deluged houses are strewn for five miles along the raging stream.

Scores of residents of the valley narrowly escaped with their lives; one man battled with the torrent for a quarter of a mile before he was rescued. There is certain to be much distress as a result of the cloudburst. The losses in McDonald reported up to last night were:

Outlook Publishing Company of McDonald, loss $1,800; plant badly wrecked and swept from foundations.

S. Johnson, damage to Outlook street residence, $500.

Borough lockup, Outlook street, loss $400.

B. D. Gillingham, loss on machine shop, North McDonald street, estimated at $6,000.

French United Presbyterian church, North McDonald street, loss $600.

J. J. Hoty, residence, North McDonald street, damaged $200.

Nine residences in North McDonald street, damaged about $1,000.

McDonald Tea Company, North McDonald street, damage $800.

F. M. Bennett, damage on jewelry shop in Lincoln avenue estimated at $200.

W. P. Reed's damage to sewing machines and place of business estimated at $400.

Murchland Sisters' loss on store and millinery establishment estimated at $1,200.

Young & Williamson, electric light plant, damage $200.

W. H. Young, residence in Lincoln avenue, loss $500.

Pittsburgh Bargain Store in Lincoln avenue, badly wrecked by flood and stock damaged; loss $2,500.

Williamson & Kister, loss on Lincoln avenue residence $1,200.

Loss on stable of J. Trautman in Lincoln avenue, $150.

J. W. Smith, jewelry store in Lincoln avenue, loss $250.

Austin M. Conners lost $2,000 on his residence in McDonald.

F. S. Johnson, bakery, lost $500, on bakery in Lincoln avenue.

Hotel Bastien, Lincoln avenue, basement flooded and hotel damaged; loss $1,000.

The borough of McDonald lost $1,000 on a building in Barr street occupied by James Hardy. The loss sustained by the Johnson block was about $600. H. W. Rank, owner of a machine shop on O'Hara street, lost $1,000 by damage to building and machinery.

Frank Collin, bakery, loss $500.

George Hammerle's Experience.

George Hammerle of McDonald had a startling experience. He was in the office of the Union News Company at McDonald when the frail building was swept away. He managed to get back to the building as it floated like a huge raft down with the current of the flood. Just when he saw that the walls would collapse he sprang from a window and swam to the bank.

The family of Otto Glasser, consisting of his wife and six children, had a miraculous escape. Their house at Noblestown was swept away and floated several hundred yards down the stream. It finally lodged amid a pile of driftwood and was about to be submerged by the debris when Glasser swam ashore with his entire family.

Oil companies operating in the McDonald field have suffered great loss. At Sturgeon the boiler shop on the Glen farm was wrecked. The water and gas mains of the South Penn Oil Company were broken. At Noblestown several small frame houses of the Fayette Coal Company were washed away. The loss is about $1,000. The residence of James Murray at Noblestown was wrecked, and Hoffman's store and barn, near by, were washed away. Hotel Williamson and a half-score of dwellings were damaged.

At Oakdale the loss will be proportion-

IMMIGRANTS HERE THROUGH FRAUD

Investigation Discloses a Plot Which Affects Foreigners in Pittsburgh.

PROSECUTIONS ARE PROMISED

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 29.—The examination here today of a Greek before United States Commissioner Knox, charged with having in his possession fraudulent naturalization papers, brought out a statement that 100 other cases of fraudulent papers have been discovered by an immigration inspector who has just returned from Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. The inspector visited Pittsburgh last week and found a score or more cases in that city, others in Youngstown, Cleveland and other Ohio cities, and a few in Wheeling.

The government officials have learned that a gang of men is engaged in securing naturalization papers by the wholesale and selling them to foreigners who are afflicted with eye disease that bars them from entry to the United States. With citizenship papers on their person they cannot be excluded.

Today the prisoner was held for the federal grand jury. Arrests in Pittsburgh and vicinity are likely to follow. The fraudulent papers are mailed across the Atlantic to permit paupers and diseased foreigners to come into the country.

LOVER TAKES AWFUL REVENGE ON RIVAL

In the Midst of Festivities a Pole Sinks a Hatchet Into Another's Back.

Festivities over the arrival of a relative from the old country were stopped at the home of Joseph Raubtwich, 2421 Sidney street, South Side, shortly before last midnight, when Raubtwich, with a terrible shriek, suddenly fell to the floor among the merrymakers. The guests ran to his aid and it was discovered that he had a hatchet blade buried in his back.

Raubtwich, who is 43 years old, was hurried to the South Side hospital, where the physicians found that the blade had made a serious wound in the region of the kidneys. At the hospital it was stated that Raubtwich was suffering from internal hemorrhages and was in a dying condition.

Among the guests it was said that Meter Bobich became jealous of attentions Raubtwich showed a Polish girl with whom Bobich is said to be infatuated. The men quarreled over the matter and Bobich left the house. His home is only a few doors away from the house in which the celebration was held. Bobich entered the room unnoticed, crept up behind Raubtwich and sunk the blade of the hatchet into the man's back. He then fled from the house.

Shortly before 2 o'clock this morning the South Side police arrested a Pole and took him to Raubtwich's house in the hope of having him identified as the man who struck Raubtwich down.

PARKER TALKS WITH GUFFEY

Friend of Grover Cleveland Has a Conference With the Pittsburgh Colonel.

SAY NOTHING WAS DONE

George F. Parker, a close friend of ex-President Cleveland, had a conference yesterday afternoon with Col. J. M. Guffey. Controller Larkin was present during the interview.

Col. Guffey said last night that he had not talked politics with Mr. Parker. This must have been a disappointment to Mr. Parker, as he came to Pittsburgh to discuss the situation with the Pennsylvania leader and had Controller Larkin secure him an audience. The latter said that his friend is not advocating any particular candidate, but is in search of light on the presidential nomination.

Mr. Parker was Cleveland's biographer and is close to the Princeton man. In 1892 he had charge of the literary bureau in the Cleveland campaign for the nomination. Controller Larkin was associated with him in the work. Col. Guffey would have to undergo a change of heart before he would agree to throw his 68 Pennsylvania votes to the ex-president. During the last administration of Cleveland, Col. Guffey was not in accord with him much of the time. The nomination of Cleveland would also be entirely unsatisfactory to W. F. Harrity to split the Pittsburgher.

T. S. Bigelow says that no plans have been made by the Citizens for their entrance into the hoodlum primaries of next year. In his opinion it will be useless to fight unless a strong combination can be made. He thinks that Controller Cunningham made a chance to secure a nomination. When asked about Recorder O'Neil, he replied: "He is not strong in Swissvale."

Many people think that the numerous conferences held by the Citizens leaders are not for the purpose of making plans concerning the Republican primaries of next year. There is a possibility unfettered that something similar to the recent street franchise legislation is being considered, and that the political contests scheme is simply being used as a blind.

"SORRY TO LEAVE YOU ALL," SAYS MORTON TO OLD FRIENDS

"Ed.—Sorry to leave you all—Paul."

That is the interesting and affectionate postscript to a note received yesterday by E. F. Lalk, the general agent of the Santa Fe road here, from Paul Morton, the new secretary of the navy, vice president of the system.

The note itself tells of the new secretary's reluctance to leave the railroad business and his old friends for the honor just offered to him. The note itself, addressed to Mr. Lalk and signed with the firm signature that will direct the movements of our boys on the east four years, is as follows:

"You were very kind to write me your congratulations and I thoroughly appreciate it. I have accepted the great honor conferred on me by the president very reluctantly and hope my friends will not be embarrassed in my administration of the navy."

HEARST BOOM HAS PRESTIGE

Rises to the Dignity of a Floor Manager at St. Louis.

FIGHT ON ILLINOIS

Chicago Man Promises Evidence That Will Scat the Contesting Delegates.

POPULISTS WANT A HEARING

By CHESTER D. POTTER.
[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

St. Louis, June 29.—While in the east the Hearst boom is considered a thing of the past in the west it has sufficient prestige to convince its owner of the necessity of having a convention floor manager. Former Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota will have charge of Mr. Hearst's interests on the floor of the convention. Pettigrew is at all times spectacular. He will be so on this occasion. Mr. Hearst could not have selected a better man to take charge of his presidential obsequies.

National Chairman Jones has informed Secretary C. A. Walsh that he will arrive in St. Louis Friday. Mr. Walsh also expects Col. Guffey, the Pennsylvania leader, here at the same time, and "Lest we forget," W. J. Bryan, the gentleman who at this time believes the destiny of the Democratic party is in his hands, will also appear.

Secretary Walsh today received a telegram from Attorney E. B. Toleman of Chicago. Mr. Toleman advised Mr. Walsh that he had been retained as counsel for the Harrison contestants of Illinois, also for the contestants in the two Ohio districts. The Illinois fight, Mr. Toleman said, will involve the entire state delegation and he promised to be able to submit evidence which will seat all of the Hearst and Harrison delegates.

Will Fight Bryanism.

National Committeeman Clayton of Alabama tonight announced that his delegation would support a conservative course all the way through. Alabama has indorsed Parker, will be bound by the unit rule, and will fight all efforts for the recognition of Bryan, either as to the nominees or the platform. Mr. Clayton said that he had no doubt as to Parker's nomination. He believes the New Yorker is the safest man who can be agreed upon at this time, and it is his opinion Parker will have enough votes to win the nomination before the end of the second roll call.

Committeeman Taylor of South Dakota said that although his delegation was instructed for Hearst, it was in thorough sympathy with Mr. Bryan and would follow him to any length he may go. Mr. Taylor is one of the most extreme of the radicals. He has no hesitancy in saying that the salvation of the party depends upon its willingness to follow the advice of Mr. Bryan.

There are quite a number of Illinois contestants here. One of them informed me tonight that he could give the names of 15 men who have been instructed for Hearst who will not vote for him. Both factions seem to be playing fast and loose in their efforts to secure local recognition.

Populists Want a Hand.

J. A. Parker, chairman of the national executive committee of the Peoples party, is looking for options. If the Democratic national convention nominates Mr. Hearst, Chairman Parker said the Peoples party would indorse him at their convention which will be held at Springfield in July. The Populist party, only a memory in the east, is a tangible substance west of the Mississippi. Like the buffalo it is becoming extinct, but it still controls enough votes in many of the western states to make it a factor of importance. Mr. Hearst strongly appeals to these people and they will support him with much enthusiasm.

Unless there is a shifting of lines between now and the roll call, it is extremely probable that there will be a deadlock. If a deadlock is established it will not be easily broken. The various factions, true to the traditions of their party, will pursue an unyielding policy. So much bitterness has been engendered in the early stages of the campaign that harmony and compromise will only come at the point of the bayonet. No quarter will be asked, none will be given.

If the deadlock occurs, a dark horse will be the only solution. Ex-Gov. Pattison of Pennsylvania; Judge Harmon of Ohio and other are mentioned in this connection, but it is more likely that the honor will fall to a man as yet not prominently named. Convention chronology gives odds to the dark horse.

The only picture which will be hung over the Coliseum stage during the convention will be that of Thomas Jefferson. The committee on arrangements decided that they would be accessory before the fact if they were to display pictures of either Bryan, Cleveland, Parker or Gorman.

POOLROOMS DOOMED BY LOUISIANA LAW

NEW ORLEANS, June 29.—The Hunt-acker anti-poolroom bill passed the state senate today. This means that the seven poolrooms doing business in New Orleans and others throughout the state will have to close on September 1. Gov. Blanchard will sign the bills at once. The penalty attached to running a poolroom or being employed in one will be a fine of not less than $200 or not more than $800, with imprisonment of six months.

Joseph H. Brigham Dead.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—News has been received here of the death at Delta, Ohio, tonight of Col. Joseph H. Brigham, assistant secretary of agriculture. For many years he had been prominent in Ohio politics and has occupied his present position since the first administration of President McKinley.

DENOUNCED AS GRAFT GAME

Some Sensational Charges Against Administration in Select Council.

BIGELOW WAS HIT

Exciting Fight Waged Over Bills Making Contracts With Four New Depositories.

STRONG SPEECH BY DOUGLAS

"This is a great graft game. It is the biggest steal in the history of Pittsburgh," declared Thomas O'Brien, the lone Orphan member in select council, yesterday afternoon when that body was discussing the agreements making a four-year contract with the four banks selected by the finance committee as city depositories.

Notwithstanding O'Brien's sensational charges, which were not answered, and an impassioned speech by R. R. Douglas, select council voted down a motion to refer the agreements and bonds accompanying them to the city solicitor and approved the measures by a vote of 29 to five.

The statement of Dr. H. B. Burns, member from the Eleventh ward, that he was authorized by a leading banking institution to offer 4 per cent interest on all city deposits, including daily balances, the four banks selected by the finance committee agreeing to pay only 2 per cent, had no effect.

The banks selected are the Farmers' National and Deposit, Second National, Columbia National and Allegheny National. The agreements, or contracts, with the banks for four years and the bonds, which are part of the agreements, are now up to Mayor Hays.

Douglas Began Attack.

The agreements were messaged to select from common council and A. H. Leslie was the first member to move that select council concur in the action of common council, although Leslie had stated that he would oppose the administration on this proposition.

R. R. Douglas of the Twenty-first ward surprised his colleagues and caused consternation among the administration members by attacking the bills. He made an impassioned speech. He said:

After the people on July 19 vote for the sinking fund and bond issues, there will be $12,000,000 or $15,000,000 to divide among these four banks. This money will not be spent in a week, or a month or a year. It will lie in the banks and will draw only 2 per cent interest, while the taxpayers will be paying 4 per cent on the bonds.

I can go to any bank in Pittsburgh and get 4 per cent. Money is worth 4 per cent to the banks and they are glad to get it at that. You are deliberately giving away millions to four banks at 2 per cent, when there are a hundred banks in the city that would pay the city more than 2 per cent.

Serious Charges by O'Brien.

There is not a member of these councils who selected these four banks. What will the members of this body say to their constituents when the years asked why they gave away the city's money to four banks for 2 per cent when they could have got 4 per cent?

Dr. H. B. Burns said councils could not make contracts for any amount over $250 unless bids on the contracts had been advertised for. The agreements before council were contracts and meant $250,000 annually in interest.

"I am authorized by a bank in this city to bid 4 per cent for all the city funds that may be alloted it and I am ready to present this bid if the matter is thrown open to competition," said Dr. Burns.

"Who selected these four banks" demanded Thomas O'Brien of the Sixteenth ward. "This is a great graft game and the biggest steal in the history of Pittsburgh."

"I will answer the member from the Sixteenth ward," said Douglas. "The member from the Fifth ward (P. J. Barry) presented to the finance committee a type-written slip on which were the names of the four banks selected."

Barry Refused to Tell.

"I deny that I selected the banks," declared Barry. "Some man in this building gave me the slip and I presented it to the finance committee as I was requested."

Douglas asked Barry to name the man who had given him the paper and Barry refused.

"I'll tell you who it was," shouted O'Brien. "It was 'Eddie' Bigelow."

Douglas had moved to refer the agreements to the city solicitor for an opinion as to their legality. Upperman, West, Costello and Armstrong spoke against the motion of Douglas. The motion to refer was defeated by a vote of 28 to 6, the members voting as follows:

Ayes—Burns, Douglas, W. H. McKelvy, Thomas O'Brien, Schempp and President Wightman—6.

Noes—Armstrong, Atkinson, John Barry, P. J. Barry, Booth, Cavett, Costello, Fichtel, Fleming, Frederick, Friedman, Gallagher, Hermes, Howarth, Kearns, Lang, Leslie, William McKelvey, Manion, Ruhlandt, Schlenkauer, Schneider, Shenkel, Upperman, Walwright, Walters, West, Zollinger—28.

New Bank Bill Introduced.

Leslie's motion to concur in the action of common council was carried by a vote of 29 to 5, Schempp changing to the administration.

A new bank ordinance was introduced by Douglas. It provides that the city funds for one year, beginning February 1, 1905, and each year thereafter, shall be deposited in banks offering the highest rate of interest, all banks, saving institutions and trust companies being eligible as depositories. This ordinance was referred to the finance committee. As councils have already made a contract for four years, beginning February 1 next, the ordinance presented by Douglas can be of no effect unless the contracts ratified yesterday by council are voted by the mayor or annulled by court.

A. G. Roenigk's ordinance authorizing the letting of a contract to drill artesian wells at school houses, in the parks and at points downtown, and authorizing the transfer of $10,000 from the Point bridge fund for this purpose, was killed by the motion of Dr. Walters to indefinitely postpone action on it. The motion was adopted unanimously. This was done at the instance of the administration, although Stoenigk was promised that his pet scheme would be carried out.

Moore's Massage Bill Killed.

Director Moore's ordinance licensing massage parlors was also killed. It was referred to a special committee of three, on this committee being appointed Leslie, Dr. McKelvy and Dr. Walters, all of whom are opposed to the measure.

The ordinance authorizing the expenditure of $15,000 to be transferred from the Point bridge fund, to regrade the Schenley park oval, was passed. Shenkel and Costello, who bitterly opposed the transfer of this money from the Point bridge fund at the previous meeting, said yesterday they had been assured by the director of public works that the bridge fund would not run short and they voted for the bill.

Armstrong presented an ordinance prohibiting city contractors from employing workmen who have not served a full apprenticeship at their trade. Armstrong said that some contractors are employing bricklayers, steamfitters and other craftsmen on city work who had not served their full term as apprentices and that the contractors were not paying these men union wages, thus preventing competition by contractors who do pay union wages. Armstrong's ordinance was referred to the finance committee.

Wainwright presented a resolution to extend the time for the Morningside Street Railway Company to complete its line from the Morningside district around Highland park to the East End, it being proposed to extend the time one year to July 1, 1905. The resolution was referred to the corporations committee.

BIGELOW PREVENTED MEETING OF COMMON

Ward Declared Resolution Censuring Director Out of Order and Adjourned Session.

Whereas, The administrator of public affairs has seen fit to prevent a meeting of common council,

Resolved, That we do now adjourn to meet at the call of the chair.

The above resolution was presented to President Ward of common council last night when he called 16 members of that body to order and announced a quorum was not present. The resolution was presented by J. A. Perley of the Fourteenth ward. President Ward declared the resolution out of order, stating that he would entertain only a simple motion to adjourn. With one exception the 16 members present were Republicans. Director Bigelow was accused of having sent out orders for the Citizens members to stay away, fearing, it being the last regular meeting of the summer, that the Republicans might spring something new. He was the person referred to in Perley's resolution as the "administrator of public affairs." When Ward ruled the resolution out Brand took an appeal from Ward's decision. This bit of farce comedy caused a general laugh in which Ward joined.

Ward was puzzled for awhile as how to proceed, but coached by a person behind the desk, he finally declared that the members could transact no business except to adjourn. While Brand was defending Perley's resolution, Ward said:

"It's all over, Mr. Brand, council is adjourned to meet at the call of the chair."

Brand and other Republicans laughed and submitted when Ward left the chair. Ward was asked by one of the Republicans after the meeting if he had not been told by Director Bigelow in the afternoon that there would not be a meeting of common council. This Ward denied.

In adjourning select council yesterday afternoon President Wightman announced from the chair that it was the last regular meeting until the second Monday in September. He was asked if he would call a special meeting during the summer, being told that Director Bigelow had said that councils were to meet every week during the summer after the bond election on July 12. President Wightman replied:

"No, I will not call any special meetings. Those held they will not be called by me."

SANTOS-DUMONT LACKS FAITH IN AMERICANS

Will Take His Gas Bag to Paris to Have It Repaired Before Making Ascension.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, June 29.—Col. K. P. Kingsbury, commandant of the Jefferson Guards, who has been investigating the attempted destruction of the gas bag of Santos-Dumont's airship, made his report to President Francis.

After reciting in detail the movements of the Guards during the night of June 27, when the damage was done, Col. Kingsbury says in part:

"I learn from Lieut. Walsh of the secret service, who has investigated the matter thoroughly, that Mr. Hudson, superintendent of the marine section of the transportation bureau, told him that he several times spoke to Mr. Dumont of the advisability of placing special watchmen over the balloon and placing the cover on the box. One of Dumont's assistants is said to carry a large, strong knife. Owing to the strength of the numerous folds and thicknesses of the balloon envelope, some such knife as this would have been necessary to cut the balloon."

The rumor became current in St. Louis today that Mr. Dumont could tell who damaged the gas bag, and a statement to that effect was published in an afternoon paper. When shown the statement, Mr. Dumont said it was ridiculous. He said further:

"It will probably cost me $5,000 before the damage is repaired. I have the gas bag packed and ready to ship, and hope to start it for Paris tomorrow. I shall go to Paris and superintend the repair work."

"Prof. Meyers has said he can repair the damage here; why do you not let him do it?" was asked.

"Because," replied Mr. Dumont, "I do not think Prof. Meyers or anyone else this side of Paris can make the repairs. If Prof. Meyers repairs the bag he can go up in the ship. I will not trust myself in it."

Charles F. Morrison, who was arrested on a charge of having cut the gas bag, was released tonight.

STAMPEDE TO CLEVELAND AFTER THE THIRD BALLOT

Charles P. Salen of Ohio Talks About the Plot to Defeat Parker.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, June 29.—Charles P. Salen, Mayor Tom L. Johnson's political manager, and just now leader of the Ohio Democracy, after studying the presidential situation carefully, made this statement today:

"A large element among the Democratic leaders do not believe in Bryanism and are also antagonistic to Parker. There are two reasons for this antagonism to Parker. One is that his attitude on all public questions is unknown, and the other is that he is absolutely under the control of David B. Hill. This element is getting ready to stampede the convention for Grover Cleveland after the third ballot. This plan, and I know it to be a fact, is being managed by Senator Gorman, of Maryland, and John R. McLean. If it results in the nomination of Cleveland, McLean will be nominated for vice president. Parker's great strength will be on the second and third ballots, and after that his forces will dwindle. McLean is now preparing a slate for the Ohio memberships on the national and convention committees. I don't believe this slate will go through."

Mayor Johnson wants to be on the committee on resolutions. Ohio candidates for national committeemen are: John R. McLean of Cincinnati, Judge Lewis Brucker of Mansfield, John W. Bookwalter of Springfield. Candidates for the chairmanship of the Ohio delegation are: Will S. Thomas, Springfield; John McMahon, Dayton, and S. M. Clarke, Youngstown. Oscar Newman of Portsmouth, is candidate for the secretaryship of the delegation.

HARD JOB TO GET RID OF DAVID BENNETT HILL

Wants to Be Either Permanent Chairman or Head of Resolutions Committee.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Who shall be permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention is a question now giving great trouble to the sub-committee on arrangements. Senator Gorman and John R. McLean had another conference at the senator's residence here today and this was one of the problems discussed.

When these leading Democrats met with Messrs. Guffey, Smith and Brennan on Monday, John Sharp Williams was decided on for temporary chairman because he was acceptable to all factions in the convention. This only question settled in regard to permanent chairman was that he should be a northern man. It now develops that David B. Hill wishes to be permanent chairman of the convention or chairman of committee on resolutions and the members of the sub-committee are struggling with the serious problem involved in this request. Mr. Hill is regarded as closely identified with the leading candidate for the nomination for the presidency and if the national committee should select him for either permanent chairman or to head the committee on resolutions he will be accepted that the party leaders are satisfied that Judge Parker cannot be beaten.

The general opinion among Democrats now here, formed since the many conferences with Senator Gorman began, is that the movement to unite on "any man to beat Parker," lags perceptibly.

INDORSES FAVORITE SON.

Missouri Democrats Favor Cockrell for President, but Delegates Are Not Instructed.

JOPLIN, MO., June 29.—The Democratic state convention to elect 36 delegates to the national convention at St. Louis tonight selected the following delegates-at-large:

United States Senator Wm. J. Stone, Governor Alexander M. Dockery, Congressman Champ Clark and David A. De Armond.

Thirty-two district delegates were also chosen. The convention was controlled by the so-called "machine" element, which is opposed to the faction supporting Joseph W. Folk of St. Louis, for governor. The convention indorsed Senator Francis M. Cockrell for president.

The delegates were instructed to vote as a unit on all questions in the national convention.

DESOLATION FOLLOWS THE FLOOD OF TUESDAY

ately as great. All the bridges in the town have been washed away and wreckage is piled up through the streets. The bridges probably will be rebuilt by the county authorities.

Two dwellings owned by Mrs. Logan of Allegheny were the first to go. Houses of James Bell, James Dickson, Mrs. Scott Adams and Dr. Van Sickle likewise suffered. The house of Mrs. McCoy, one of the landmarks of Oakdale, was wrecked and a piano carried off by the flood lodged in a willow tree a quarter of a mile below the town. The postoffice building, the Parks block, the Nesbit and Bennlnger stores, two Italian fruit stands and a poolroom were washed from their foundations. The wreckage is piled in the public square. A dancing pavilion at Sturgeon was wrecked.

The most serious loss to the community is claimed to be in the destruction of the bridges, which will cause an almost total suspension of business.

Armed Guard of Citizens.

Armed with a nondescript assortment of weapons, about 20 citizens of Oakdale formed themselves into a guard and last night patrolled the streets in the flood district. Late yesterday afternoon a report reached the village that an attempt would be made to loot the contents of the score or more partially destroyed buildings, including the bank and postoffice. This information came from a man who claimed to have overheard a conversation among several suspicious-looking persons who were seen in the borough during the morning.

The town has no police force, so steps were at once taken to organize a temporary guard. A score of the younger men responded to the call for aid, and the posse was placed in charge of the flood district. Some of the men were armed with modern weapons, while other provided themselves with old muzzle-loading shotguns and superannuated horse pistols. The headquarters of the protectors was the bank, where there was about $8,000 in the vault.

Another Call on Volunteers.

Ton after ton of decaying vegetables and refuse filth was washed into the streets and left there when the waters receded. Today a call for volunteers to clean away the deposits will be made. Dr. C. M. Van Sickle, a member of the health board, stated yesterday that he feared the decaying matter would result in an epidemic of fever unless it was cleaned away at once.

Oakdale has no sewer or water system and the surface drainage is not of the best. For this reason the streets cannot be flushed, and to remove the deposits it will be necessary to cart all of it away.

Dr. Van Sickle also related how he had escaped death by drowning when the flood swept down the valley. He said:

"I was just in front of the Federal Supply Company's store when the water began to rise so rapidly that in a moment I was cut off from escape. Catching at a piece of floating wood, I smashed in the floor of the store and got aside. A few minutes later a man came floating past, and by breaking one of the windows I managed to pull him into the place."

Mother and Children Saved.

Mrs. William Dyke, wife of an evangelist, was rescued from the first floor of her home, where she was standing on a bed holding an infant child in either hand. The water had reached her armpits when the rescuers arrived.

Justice J. W. Guy was caught in his office and had to stand on a desk top to keep his head above water until he was taken through a hole in the roof and hauled to safety with a rope tied about his body.

At McDonald the wreckage along Robinson run was still piled high last night, and it is expected that it will be about two weeks before the debris is all cleared away.

George Harmley and Frank Sawhill were in the stand of the Union News Company at the railroad station when the flood upset the building and threw them to the ground. Harmley caught hold of an awning rope on the adjoining building, while Sawhill was carried down stream about 150 feet, where he finally succeeded in grasping a guy wire and holding on until help came.

Negro Thieves at Work.

Negro vandals attempted to loot several buildings in the flood district, and succeeded in stealing $30 from Melvin Morehead's furniture store and about $60 worth of jewelry from the residence of former Chief of Police Robert Douglas.

About 10 o'clock Tuesday night a negro entered the home of Frank Haley in East Lincoln avenue, and after threatening to kill Mrs. Haley should she make an outcry, began to loot the place. Haley returned and with the assistance of neighbors captured the negro, who gave his name as William Pearce.

With great difficulty Charles Hays, engineer in the Hotel Bastian, escaped from the cellar before it filled with water, and was standing in the place congratulating himself when a domestic declared that her pocketbook, containing all her money, had been left in the wash house in the back yard. Her lamentations were so long and loud that Hays finally, at the risk of his life, swam out and brought back the purse just a moment before the outbuilding collapsed and was carried away. He opened the pocketbook and found it to contain six pennies and a hairpin. The domestic's thanks were profuse.

Rough Rider Did Good Work.

Charles Cameron, who served in Cuba with the Rough Riders, rescued about a half dozen people from inundated houses.

The McDonald fire department was swept out of existence by the flood. The hook and ladder truck, which had been the pride of the volunteers, was carried down stream and wrecked, while a few boards of what had once been the engine house were found about a half mile from its original site.

The sight of a funeral procession wending its way through the debris-choked streets of Oakdale, the coffin carried on the shoulders of four men, made many persons forget their own suffering. It was the burial of the son of E. G. Westerman, mayor of New Martinsburg, W. Va., and took place from the home of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKnight. Their home had been washed bound all day, but yesterday afternoon it became necessary to take the body to the cemetery.

Doing a Rushing Business.

Capt. Isaac B. Williams, one of the local government vessel inspectors, is very busy at present inspecting life preservers. About 1,500 life preservers are being shipped from this city to New York daily. The demand has been very brisk ever since the Slocum disaster. Proprietors of the Armstrong factory here say the demand is so brisk that orders are being filled by express, the hurry being in too big a hurry to wait on shipments by freight.

Rhodes Scholarship Awarded.

HARRISBURG, June 29.—(Special.)—Thomas Ellis Robbins of Philadelphia, a University of Pennsylvania graduate, has been awarded a Cecil Rhodes scholarship in the Oxford university, England. The award was made today at a meeting at the state department of the city of the scholarship committee for Pennsylvania.

Priest Makes Counter Suit.

The Rev. Father Kalman Kovatz, pastor of St. Stephen's Magyar church, of McKeesport, yesterday sued Yolan Hannath, a domestic, who sued him before Alderman L. N. Morgan on a serious charge. The counter charge is perjury. The priest claims the suit is an attempt to blackmail.

Gas Stove Exploded.

The explosion of a gas stove on the second floor of 644 Penn avenue at 9 o'clock last night damaged the building to the extent of $200. The apartment is occupied by Mrs. Rosalmanger, a ladies' tailor. There was no person in the place at the time. Portions of the broken window sashes, as well as particles of broken glass, were blown 60 feet across the street.

Fatal Fall from a Wall.

Charles Deuring, aged 12, was possibly fatally injured yesterday by falling from the retaining wall on the Pennsylvania railroad at the East Liberty station. With other boys he was running along the wall when he fell to the tracks. He was picked up unconscious and taken to his home, 252 Frankstown avenue.

MURDERER OUTWITTED MILITIA AND POSSES

The Slayer of Wisconsin Sheriff Broke Through Lines of Armed Men.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HUDSON, WIS., June 29.—Hunted by two companies of state militia armed with Mauser rifles, three sheriffs' posses, numbering more than 200 men with Winchesters and with bloodhounds, Lon Smith, the outlaw who shot and killed Sheriff Harry Harris of St. Croix county on a railroad train, while resisting arrest, June 6, has outwitted the state troops and sheriffs' officers by breaking through the lines enclosing him in his hiding place in a dense swamp, and escaped across the river to Minnesota.

Just how or when he eluded his pursuers, they are unable to tell. Following the shooting of Sheriff Harris and the fugitive's sensational flight in a stolen rig, the militia and sheriffs' posses and bloodhounds picked up the trail and finally discovered him in the woods near Hudson.

The woods were surrounded and the combined forces began to close in on the fugitive. He escaped through the lines, however, but was again discovered between Fairchild and Augusta and surrounded, the same closing-in tactics again being employed. The search, however, proved unavailing. No trace of the outlaw can be found and the militia has been ordered home.

RECOGNITION IS ASKED.

Before Federation of Catholic Societies School Question Is Discussed.

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—The Rev. Philip R. McDevitt, superintendent of parish schools in the archdiocese of Philadelphia, made a plea for "financial recognition" of Catholic parish schools by the state today at the closing session of the convention of the Federation of Catholic Societies of Pennsylvania.

"In seeking some financial recognition for their schools," said the superintendent, "Catholics are but asking that their own money, not other people's, shall be applied to the education of the children of the nation."

Among the officers elected and installed were: President, Walter George Smith, Philadelphia; first vice president, P. H. McGuire, Allegheny; secretary, Joseph A. Weber, Philadelphia; treasurer, P. A. Hart, Montgomery. On the executive board is Joseph J. Brown of Allegheny.

The following were chosen delegates to the national convention to be held next fall in Detroit: Walter George Smith, Joseph A. Weber, C. W. Naulty, S. Edwin Megargee, George W. Gibbons, all of Philadelphia; P. H. McGuire, J. I. Brown, F. W. Immekus, Allegheny county; Frederick S. Ball, Blair; W. A. B. Little, Cambria; John J. Buckley, Delaware; C. A. Boyer, Erie; Thomas J. McHugh, Lackawanna; D. F. Magee, Lancaster; J. J. McCabe, Luzerne; P. J. Kelly, Lycoming; Matthias Kohl, Mercer; W. B. Schuyler, Montgomery.

RESENTED THE NEGLECT.

Mike Cusick Interferes With Niece's Wedding Because He Had to Pay for Carriage.

Failure to provide Mike Cusick of 611 Brownsville avenue with a carriage in which to attend the wedding of his niece and former housekeeper, Mary Green, yesterday, resulted in a series of troubles, ending with the arrest of Cusick last evening and his confinement in the South Side police station for a hearing this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The wedding took place at 10 o'clock at St. John's Roman Catholic church, South Fourteenth street, and the bridal party proper occupied a carriage. Cusick, who was invited, but was told to use a street car. He engaged a carriage, and when he found he had to pay for it himself, is alleged to have made the trip of the bride to the church an embarrassing one by repeatedly driving across the street in the way of her carriage.

The wedding festivities last evening were the occasion of the final trouble. When Officer Duran arrived at the house on a sudden summons he found Cusick holding the rest of the party at bay at the point of an empty revolver. The arrest was made.

AMERICA SATISFIED.

France and Germany Can Punish Haiti, if in a Just Manner.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The state department has taken note of the press report of the dispatch of warships by France and Germany to Haiti to secure reparation for the attack upon the French and German minister, recently stoned by Haitian soldiers at Port au Prince. The department has not been formally advised of the intentions of France and Germany, but assumes that these reports are perfectly correct. Following its invariable rule in such cases the department will not intervene unless some act is committed that appears to be beyond the bounds of strict justice.

BERLIN, June 29.—The German gunboat Panther, now at Newport News, has received orders by cable to sail for Port au Prince immediately.

PORT AU PRINCE, HAITI, June 29.—The French cruiser Jurien de la Graviere will arrive at this port July 1.

Don't tell your friends of it. They would think it so strange. You see, they know Ayer's Hair Vigor checks falling of the hair, restores color to gray hair, and makes the hair grow. Then why don't you use it?

NEW YORK, June 29.—(Special.)—In compliance with her husband's wishes as expressed in his will, Mrs. Mary Rix, widow of Gustave Rix, a well-known builder and botanist, who died on January 9, 1902, today went to Bronx park, accompanied by friends and officers of the botanical gardens, and there distributed half of the ashes of her dead husband. WANT HIM BACK.

Requisition Proceedings Have Been Begun for Pennington's Return from St. Louis.

Miss H. J. Geis, who conducts a woman's hair dressing establishment in the Bijou building, is the chief complainant against E. J. Pennington, the airship promoter who is under arrest in St. Louis, charged with conspiracy to defraud. She made information against him yesterday, alleging Pennington sold her $250 worth of stock of an alleged automobile company, which has since proved to be bogus.

The requisition papers were made out for Pennington's extradition yesterday and forwarded to Gov. Pennypacker at Harrisburg. This evening Detective Riley will leave for St. Louis to bring Pennington back. According to Superintendent McQuade, Pennington has victimized a number of people in this city. He was promoting a company to manufacture automobiles and gathered up considerable money.

The detectives are looking for the woman who represented herself as his wife while here. It is believed she is still here in hiding. The detectives are also looking for two men who are implicated in the alleged conspiracy. Miss Geis said that Pennington made such an impression on her as being an honest, upright man, that she could hardly believe he would have swindled her. The detectives believe Pennington will contest the extradition proceedings at St. Louis and they will only get him back after a legal struggle.

FILIPINOS OBJECT.

Say It Will Not Take Them Twenty Years to Fit Them for Self-Government.

CLEVELAND, O., June 29.—The members of the honorary board of the Filipino commissioners to the Louisiana Purchase exposition, arrived here from Pittsburgh today and were met by a committee from the chamber of commerce.

Nearly all the commissioners have been informed of the speech made yesterday before the Harvard law school at Cambridge, Mass., by Secretary Taft, in which the secretary stated that the Filipinos might not be ready for self-government under 20 years.

"I differ in some points with Mr. Taft," said Juan Sumulong, a lawyer, member of the directory of the Federal party, and a professor in the Manila law school.

"We are not entirely unfit for self-government now, although it is true we are not fully prepared. We want to always have some connection with America, but we want a better economic condition and a more definite form of government."

ALLEGHENY ELKS ENTERTAIN CROWD AT BAND CONCERT

Allegheny Lodge No. 339, B. P. O. E., gave the second of its summer series of band concerts last night on the big veranda of the clubhouse in Cedar avenue. The concert attracted large crowds to the clubhouse, and the benches were set facing the clubhouse. The concerts are given as much for the public as for the members of the lodge, and Superintendent William Hamilton of the Allegheny parks provided a large number of park benches to accommodate those wishing to remain throughout the concert. It is the intention to have these musical affairs once a week during the summer.

IF YOU HAVE A DAUGHTER, SHOW YOUR APPRECIATION

If your daughter graduated this year it means much to you as well as to her. She has done her part nobly and you will no doubt be glad to show your appreciation of her industry and cleverness in a fitting manner.

Whether or not your daughter is to derive real and lasting benefit from her education depends largely upon you. Now that she is wending with reluctant feet where the brook and river meet, looking back half regretfully upon her school days and looking forward with seriousness to the future, it rests with you whether she shall be encouraged to start out and complete the work so well begun.

You could not do better than make her a present of a good piano which will not only stimulate her to go on with her music, but will be a lifelong source of pride and joy to her.

Come in and see how easy it is to buy a piano. We offer you choice of the world's best instruments on the easiest of terms. A small cash payment only is necessary, the balance may be paid monthly to suit your convenience.

Conservatory model upright piano $185—$15 first payment, $7.50 a month.

Catalogues Free.

The world's best instruments include the A. B. Chase, Fischer, Hamil-Tone, Schumann, Smith & Barnes, Kurtzmann, Becker Bros., Vaugh, Tilton, & Co. pianos, and the Angelus, the orchestral piano player.

AUTOS MUST SHOW NUMBERS ON REAR

Police Start Crusade Against Speeding, and Make Six Arrests First Day.

MANY MACHINES NOT LICENSED

Complaints against the speeding of automobiles have become so frequent that a crusade has been started by the police and the first day of the order of Director Harry Moore resulted in the arrest of six offenders. At the Oakland and East End police stations this morning the first violators of the recent act of assembly will face a magistrate. The specific charge is that of running an automobile without license numbers.

Throughout the East End and Oakland districts and the parks mounted police and bicycle squads were busy yesterday enforcing the new order of the director. At a meeting of the trial board at the central station yesterday morning it was decided to instruct policemen in the act governing automobiles and insist that every violator be arrested. Recently there have been numbers of complaints of accidents and fast running made to various police stations and the superintendent. In almost all cases the automobiles did not carry numbers. The law requires that all machines be licensed and that on the rear be displayed three numbers three inches high. There are said to be hundreds of automobiles in the city that are not even licensed.

The trial board discovered the fact that many policemen did not know for what purpose the figures are carried. They believed them to be "club" numbers. Their ideas of speed have also been extremely vague and the director issued orders that every man on the force, particularly the park and mounted police, be fully instructed. The law limits the speed to eight miles per hour within cities, boroughs and town and not over 20 miles per hour on country roads. The fine is about $50 for exceeding the speed limit and the same for not carrying numbers. The trial board has fixed the bail fee at $15 for each offense.

The problem of finding out whether machines have numbers has been solved easily. No matter how dark the night or how fast the auto may be travelling, there is no chance for violators to escape. Bicycle squads are doing the work. Eight men were busy in the Oakland district last night following up the automobiles that whizzed along Forbes and Fifth avenues in the vicinity of Schenley park. One of these mounted officers, J. F. Toole, made three arrests in less than two hours. Those whom he apprehended were J. M. Waterbury, Morewood and Ellsworth avenue; R. C. McAteer of Crafton and Fred Balser of 347 Spahr street, all of whom were stopped in Forbes street, near the Hotel Schenley, between 5:45 and 7 p. m., and taken to the police station.

Dr. George C. Johnston, 1646 Stanton avenue, was arrested while spinning out Fifth avenue about 9 o'clock. When taken into the Oakland station the officer said: "Well, this is a new one on me."

Inspector W. J. Boyle told why the order had gone out and explained its enforcement. Dr. Johnston stated that he had his wife and child with him and that he would like to know what he had to do about the matter. He was informed, as were the rest of the violators, that he had to put up a forfeit of $15 for the machine and appear for a hearing in the morning.

John Brown, a chauffeur employed by Shaner Bros., was arrested under the new order and taken to the East Liberty police station yesterday morning. Attorney James Francis Burke appeared for the defendant and pointed out that the case would be an exception inasmuch as the machine was one that was being used for demonstrating purposes, thereby being exempted from taxation and registration. Mr. Burke, who is attorney for the Automobile club of Pittsburgh, will have a conference with Director Moore soon regarding a number of minor questions rising under the new order, which is the result of state legislation.

The sixth offender arrested last night was Paul Synnestvedt, an automobile dealer, with offices in the Frick building. He was speeding through Highland park in a new machine which did not have a number. He took his arrest cheerfully and was released on deposit of $15.

NATTIE M'LEAN LOSES HER CLAIM

Judge Hawkins, in Strong Opinion, Turns Colonial Stock Over to Brown Estate.

PERSONALITY IS $41,928.19

Miss Nattie W. McLean's claim for a half-interest in 88 shares of Colonial Trust Company stock left by the late Recorder J. O. Brown is denied by Judge Hawkins in a strong opinion confirming the account of the executrix, Mrs. Brown, who was represented by W. B. Rodgers and J. Rodgers McCreary. The claim of Mrs. Bessie Craft of New York is also denied. She asked that she be awarded $1,500 out of the estate. The personality of the estate, after deducting the court costs, is found to be $41,928 19. Unless the supreme court reverses Judge Hawkins, the amount will be distributed as follows:

Farmers Deposit National bank, note and interest, $5,335 50; Allegheny National bank, note and interest, $6,536 73; Harry S. Bair, $672 50; Apothecary Hall, $20 17; Dr. R. T. White, $44 57; H. J. Parker, $1,971 41; E. J. John, $1,076; T. C. Tress, $2,268 82; Dennison & Co., $45; Mrs. Mary A. Ackerman, $1,162; Laura J. Law, $1,506 40; Roger O'Mara, $2,125. There is a cash balance for the widow of $19,-150 29.

The court also makes formal distribution to Walter R. Black, Elias J. John and Anna M. McGeary of the Pocahontas Coal and Lumber Company stock and the Pierre ranch stocks, bequeathed to them, and which are said to be of no value.

In disposing of the case Judge Hawkins said:

This claimant was typewriter and confidential clerk of Mr. Brown and both boarded at her mother's house for several years prior to his death. Their relations appear to to have been such, according to a paper exhibited at the audit, that he assigned to her, not only his furniture, but his watch and the clothing he was wearing, and a picture of his deceased child, and insisted upon her right to them, notwithstanding that his widow was made residuary legatee.

The evidence upon which Miss McLean seeks to sustain her claim to one-half the value of this stock, is circumstantial in character. She produced six checks drawn by her, payable to the order of and indorsed by Mr. Brown, amounting in aggregate to $10,540 91, which is $829 70 less than the one-half of the cost of the stock. It was sought to connect these checks with the purchase of the stock by the word "Colonial" written across the end of each and memoranda on the check stubs. Objections were made because the word "Colonial" was written with a different pen and ink from those used in the body of the checks; because the memoranda on the stubs were written in pencil, while the checks were in ink and that three of these checks were printed by one firm and the stubs from which they were represented to have been torn were printed by another firm.

No receipt or other memoranda appears to have been given by Mr. Brown. So far, then, proof of connection of these checks with the purchase of the Colonial stock has failed. The very checks and stubs which Miss McLean offered to sustain her claim, have an air of suspicion. Mr. Brown is not here to answer for himself. In these circumstances, has Miss McLean any equity to be heard, or can there be any assurance that justice would be done by the allowance of her claim?

In the claim of Mrs. Craft Judge Hawkins said that the evidence in this matter fails to show that the estate of Mr. Brown is liable for the amount claimed, $1,500.

Don't forget your Flag for Fourth of July. We've every good kind in Basement, East Store. Silk Flags in every size. United States Bunting Flags in every size. Prices the lowest.

Kindly remember that next Saturday we begin early closing—all Saturdays throughout July and August the closing hour will be 1 o'clock, P. M. On other days, 5:30 P. M.

Tomorrow we begin, in part, our General July Clearance, by introducing an extraordinary Sale of

Ready-to-Wear Garments

for women and girls, men and boys, and the prices that will be quoted

Will Outrival Any Attempt at Reduced Prices

ever made by this store in all its many years of successful Storekeeping.

This part of our clearance, as will be observed, will be confined to the second floor, both of East and West store. The opportunity is a particularly happy one for everybody to select new attire for the Fourth—garments that were especially designed for the warm spell—summery garments of the very best conception.

Women's $20 and $25 Silk Shirtwaist Suits

FOR $9.75 THE SUIT.

This is one of the propositions that entitles this sale to be called extraordinary. Taffeta Silk Shirtwaist Suits for hardly what the silk alone costs—not suits thrown together for hurrah sales, not old styles—but such Silk Shirtwaist Suits as this department is proud to carry, and in style up to the very hour.

Of course in a clearance sale it is well understood that we help manufacturers to a clearance---thus these suits are direct from the maker, and just arrived yesterday afternoon.

CAUTION---The sale is for tomorrow, and under no conditions will any of the suits be on sale today---they will not even be in the department.

The sizes run from 34 to 44 inclusive.

The designs of the Taffeta are taffeta chine and plain and check taffetas.

The styles of waists: Some with full blouse front, having pinch tucks and side pleats alternating, and clusters of midget steel buttons; back has 7 pinch tucks and 2 pleats on each side; tucked sleeves and cuffs, fancy stock and tie; pleated girdle with small sash; other waists altogether plain, with exception of numerous pleats front and back.

Some of the skirts have 7 gores; each gore joined with side pleats; top of skirt tucked from yoke; the bottom finished with clusters of tucks.

Other styles, more on the plain order, which some women prefer, have only a pleat between each gore.

The colors in combinations are blue with white, brown with white, gunmetal gray with white and black with white. Either one of these combinations is decidedly handsome. There are also plain colors, including the always wanted black.

Considerate Clearance Prices on Misses' and Girls' Garments.

Clearance of washable suits and cloth suits, and neat jackets—for prices that should merit the attention of mothers.

$20.00 Suits, Clearance Price $14.50
$22.50 Suits, Clearance Price $16.50
$25.00 Suits, Clearance Price $17.50

Gentlemen, does such clearance prices demand of us any qualifying words? No, we think not. The selling figures are expressive. All the adulation that could be given the suits would have little bearing.

Of course you must have the styles. There are single and double-breasted suits in more different fashionable mixtures than we could recount—color mixtures of such little mixture as to be almost plain, while others show out bold—enough variety to suit the most notionate. Trousers on the peg order, medium trousers, trousers with belt loops and trousers with hip buckles.

Every cloth that enters into men's suits is represented, and there is about any size suit a man can call for.

And while we are at it we may as well give you some reduced prices on men's society clothes, although we must inform those interested there is but a limited number of these suits.

Tuxedo Coats, or Dinner Jackets—sizes 34 to 37 chest, a coat that can also be worn upon certain society occasions, were $25.00, tomorrow..... $15.00

CAUTION—This sale is set for tomorrow, and under no circumstances will any of these suits be sold today.

Thursday, June 30, 1904.

The Gazette desires to call the attention of those of its readers who contemplate summer trips to the announcements of the many summer resort hotels published on page 14 of this issue.

United States Commissioner Knox has made an arrest at Niagara Falls that uncovers a dirty conspiracy to admit immigrants who are not entitled under the laws to land in this country. The expedient is doubly nefarious because it attempts to make these immigrants citizens without legal qualifications, being nothing more or less than supplying them with bogus naturalization papers. It is said the beneficiaries of this fraud are scattered through New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. If this be true neither time nor pains should be spared to hunt them down and deport them, and, above all, to locate and punish the authors of the conspiracy. There are enough doubtful immigrants coming without fraudulent aids.

After the "fits thrown" by our contemporary, the Dispatch, over the immigrants landed at Philadelphia by the Westernland, it is interesting to find this comment in the Philadelphia Press of Tuesday: "The immigrants, all of whom came here at the $12.50 rate, hail from the four quarters of Europe. Contrary to expectations they present as good an appearance as any immigrants that ever landed in Philadelphia." Our local contemporary described these cut-rate foreigners as "the scum of Europe." The difference in the point of view is probably due to the fact that the Press reporter is more familiar with the appearance of immigrants generally and the additional fact that the Dispatch representative was in close association with this particular bunch.

While the coroner's verdict in the Slocum disaster holds the officers and directors of the company and the captain of the boat for trial and calls attention of the government to neglect of the inspectors, other damaging revelations are being made. The verdict is fully warranted by the testimony and the prosecution should be vigorous. The other charges must be dealt with by the federal authorities, for they pertain to "graft" in the inspection service. The United States attorney is preparing papers in the main case and the department of commerce and labor has ordered a searching inquiry into the new charges. No doubt it will be pursued as mercilessly as the late probing of the postal service, and there is need that it should be. Human life is at stake in this instance.

According to Senator Gorman and other Democratic leaders who have been arranging convention details, the permanent chairman of the St. Louis convention will be a northern man. This disposes of Senator Bailey of Texas, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the position. The convention will have an opportunity of hearing southern oratory at the outset, as Representative Williams of Mississippi, the Democratic leader of the house, is slated for temporary chairman of the convention. Mr. Williams is now at work preparing a supply of rhetorical fireballs with which to dazzle the convention. The Democratic managers have picked the right man for the job. The part which Mr. Williams has taken in the debates of the congressional session shows that he is a ready and effective orator.

If ever a man had a clear "call" to a specific work that man is Joseph W. Folk of St. Louis. With the vast field of boodle prosecutions opened before him by the thorough confession of Councilman Gutke, no service which he could render to the country at large could exceed in importance his present opportunity to complete his object lesson in the political cleansing of a great metropolis. By Gutke's confession, it is apparent, the task of purging St. Louis of men who have made her a by-word and a hissing in the land is not much more than begun. The testimony points to scores of persons, aside from the corrupt councilmen themselves, who from their supposedly secure vantage ground of wealth and influence have contemptuously snapped their fingers in the face of civic purity and have willingly lent themselves to one of the most shamelessly organized systems of graft uncovered in any community. To bring these men to justice, powerful though they be; to rehabilitate with honor before the eyes of the American people a disgraced and degraded metropolis—surely this is an opportunity for national service that comes with emphatic call. Civic righteousness needs Mr. Folk just now far more than partisan politics needs him. And unless we mistake the temper and the caliber of the man, no one has a clearer apprehension of his present duty than Mr. Folk himself.

The Interest Rate.

Yesterday's meeting of select council developed the opposition to the chosen city depositories, but the council went ahead with its indorsement of the contracts by a vote of 28 to 6. This action is rather odd in face of open offers to name banks that are willing to pay 3 or 4 per cent interest instead of the 2 per cent called for by the contracts. Banks are accustomed to paying more than 2 per cent on all except open accounts, subject to check, without notice. The city has had on deposit money raised by the sale of filtration bonds five years ago that has drawn but 2 per cent. If the pending bond issues are voted a portion of the money will necessarily lie in bank for a considerable period and should draw "time" deposit interest. It would be easy to arrange it in deposits for six months, a year and more, as it will not be difficult to estimate the time when it must be drawn.

No one will overlook the fact that security is the first consideration in selecting a depository. In the words of the famous philosopher-financier, "It is better to sleep soundly on 2 per cent than to walk the floor at 6 per cent." But that is not a good reason why inquiries should not be made concerning the banks that are willing to pay a higher rate than 2 per cent for the large sums the city will have for deposit.

The city pays to the banks 5 per cent when it becomes a borrower for short time. The lender in that case does not have to walk the floor, for the city is good security. In return it ought to have something better than a "daily balance" rate on the proceeds of its bond issues which are certain to lie fallow for considerable periods of time.

Japanese Pressing Action.

While Tokyo semi-official reports note the capture of three outer forts at Port Arthur last week there are persistent rumors from Chefoo that nearly all of the outer works have been taken and the Russians driven into the fortress. The fact that the remnant of the Russian fleet risked another sortie from the harbor yesterday is indicative of strong pressure from the land side and possibly of annoyance from the sea bombardment. The inspection of the Baltic fleet by the czar will prove another incentive to the Japanese to hurry the fall of Port Arthur, for if the Baltic fleet is going to the far east it is important to Japan that it should not have more than one naval base, and that one the most distant from Manchuria. Better still if it has none, and the fall of Port Arthur will liberate the entire Japanese naval force for operations at Vladivostok.

The situation at the north end of the peninsula and above is somewhat confused. The Russians are falling back and the Japanese are advancing, with more or less continuous fighting. From Niuchwang, which has again been evacuated by the Russians, there are reports that the fighting is heavy, but other advices indicate outpost engagements only. St. Petersburg breaks in again with the tale that Kuropatkin is merely leading the Japanese away from their bases, according to the original Russian plan, but that explanation hardly covers the surrender of a new base at Niuchwang, the most convenient of all during the rainy season. The fact is the Russians are outclassed and are seeking safety in retreat. It is good policy for them, too, if they can succeed in extricating all their forces from the Japanese flanking movement. If they cannot they will simply have to suffer.

A Socialist Dream.

Apparently the socialist propaganda is tireless, and when it fathoms the deepest depths of absurdity it thrives most luxuriantly. Its latest spasm is in a book bearing the title, "The Rejuvenation of Pittsburgh," behind which there seems to be some sort of promotion project near Niagara Falls, based upon the refusal of the New York legislature to take measures for the preservation of that great natural wonder. In common with most socialistic fiction, the book lays its scene in the future, though this one takes the hazard of looking forward but a score of years, since it pictures Pittsburgh in 1922 as a ruined city of less than 50,000 population, her workmen having all been enticed to a new manufacturing city at Niagara, where co-operation has taken the place of the competitive system.

As if this were not absurdity enough for a diseased imagination, the author tells of a visit to the socialist metropolis by an official committee from Pittsburgh, to save the latter city from annihilation. Here is where the "rejuvenation" comes in. There is plenty of argument all through for co-operation and some for the supposed economies of water power as against fuel. Facts are liberally ignored in the discussion of both subjects, though facts are among the most common of available things. The book is obviously an appeal to that class of persons who from time immemorial have preferred investment in a gilded brick to the purchase of eligible real estate. It may cover an incubating town-lot-co-operative-factory scheme, or it may be merely an effort to "raise the wind" for an impecunious writer. In either case it cannot be regarded as dangerous because it is so ridiculous.

There is one excuse for the perpetration and one only. It emanates from San Francisco. The writer may never have seen Pittsburgh, or Niagara falls. If that be true he may plead ignorance in extenuation. But unless there is some element in the atmosphere of the Golden Gate not hitherto suspected that gives a peculiar warp to a redundant imagination, mere ignorance is but a partial explanation. The suggestion that the proceeds from the sale of the book are to be used to "finance the movement" probably explains more than the suggestion of ignorance or imagination. If so, the public will do well to look upon the appearance of any "co-operative companies" in the same connection with a wary eye. If it is "promotion," it must be of the smooth, long-distance sort.

Bryan's Impending Defeat.

Although Mr. Bryan is doing most of the talking, the indications are that his influence at the St. Louis convention will be so limited that it is doubtful whether even the two-thirds rule will confer upon him any ability to do serious mischief. The probability, as Chairman Hopkins of the Illinois delegation has said, is that "Mr. Bryan is going to discover at St. Louis just where he stands in the Democratic party." From the tone of Mr. Hopkins' remarks the party leaders no longer care much whether he stands inside or outside of the party. If inside, he must surrender his claims to dictatorship. If outside, he cannot possibly attack Democratic principles and candidates more vehemently than he has been doing, anyhow, and during a campaign in which the Democratic party proposes to figure as the champion of conservatism it might really be an advantage to have him as an open opponent. The campaign of 1892 is being recalled, in which Weaver, as the representative of the ideas now identified with Bryanism, polled a heavy vote and yet helped rather than hindered Democratic success. Threats of a Bryan bolt have lost all power to frighten the Democratic leaders.

A remarkable proof of this is the plain speaking of Chairman Hopkins. Although his delegation is instructed for Hearst, he treats that as a mere matter of compliment and says that the delegation "will certainly vote as a unit against Mr. Bryan on all things he may suggest." The Illinois delegation with its 54 votes has been counted among the 270 votes in the convention claimed by the Bryan-Hearst combination. Bryan's discovery of the fact that while instructed for Hearst the delegation was not controlled by Hearst is probably the cause of his efforts to get up a contesting delegation. The prospect does not disturb Mr. Hopkins in the least. He says that "the delegates from Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin will act together in all matters outside of candidate for president." In other words, the regular party leaders have the situation in hand and are working together to control the organization. Against their disciplined forces the Bryan faction will rave in vain. The bulk of the Hearst votes in the convention are probably as much out of his control as the Illinois delegation. His costly boom ensures him a place among the also rans, but has secured him little real influence in convention proceedings. The indications are now very plain that the regular leaders of the Democratic party have regained the ascendancy of which Mr. Bryan temporarily deprived them, and that they will run the convention and control its proceedings.

The arrest of a Penn avenue dealer charged with selling dynamite firecrackers is a praiseworthy start by the police. It will have a salutatory effect on other dealers who are said to have laid in a stock of high explosives for Fourth of July trade. The watch set upon these places, it is said, will be unremitting. That's good news. Persons, who with a known record of deaths caused only a year ago by such goods as they purpose to sell in bold violation of law, deserve the severest punishment that can be meted out to them if they are caught in the act.

"Military experts are of the opinion that the Japanese are endeavoring to force a battle," says a St. Petersburg dispatch. Well, well! We've been wondering what they were up to.

We suggest that an appropriate hymn for the Sunday services following the Fourth will be that good old Methodist one, beginning "And are we yet alive and see each other's face?"

The lesson of the buzz-saw seems to have been passed unheeded by that Chicago preacher who proposes to quell family rows by the introduction of a church peacemaker.

The International Automatic Airbrake Company has been formed in New Jersey just in time to save that McClellan boom from running away with itself.

Cleveland, Gorman, Hill, Guffey—nothing positively loquacious about that bunch, either, is there? After all, Bryan seems to be doing most of the talking.

After his experience with that Yale fraternity goat Secretary Taft now knows where strenuosity ends and where trouble begins.

Kuropatkin gives his generals St. George's cross and then the Japanese proceed to give them the double cross.

After all, we confess to a hankering desire to have seen what the late Mr. Raisuli might have looked like.

Wouldn't it be just as well to obtain the small boy's opinion on what constitutes a sane Fourth?

A Proper Issue.

In forcing the negro question to the forefront, the Republican national convention did the proper thing from every point of view. It did what will be expedient, and it did what will prove right from a governmental point of view. The Democratic party is aroused on the issue already, and can be relied upon to say the wrong thing in return.—Brooklyn Times.

Talked of in Gotham

By GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 29.—Real estate operators can tell you approximately how many acres of ground still unbuilt upon there are in Greater New York. The ordinary citizen, with no expert knowledge, but a pair of fairly good eyes in his head, can see for himself, whenever he takes a trip to the outskirts of the municipality. There is more expanse of fields, commons and woods still in a primeval state than space occupied by buildings and streets. It is so often complained that Greater New York is crowded to such an extent that there is no room for people to live, that one cannot but be impressed by the object lesson offered in the open space of Brooklyn, Long Island, Staten Island and the Bronx, all within the city limits. If you insist on existing in the lower East Side, you will be crowded. As you make your way north on Manhattan island, you will find more room, and if you will go out to the neighborhood of the Bronx park, you will find lots for sale as cheap as they are in Knoxville or out beyond Wilkinsburg.

In Brooklyn, within a few minutes' ride of Coney Island shore, there are large, handsome building plots fairly shrieking for occupants at any old price, while on Staten Island, within 10 minutes' ride from the Battery, when the new city-owned ferryboats are in commission, you may have a country home on easy terms within sound of Wall street. The Bronx will be made still more accessible than it is, when the rapid transit subway is in operation, and the same may be said of the sea beach portion of Brooklyn when the tunnels are all constructed. Even at present it is easy to get to and from those districts, even in the rush hours, if one is agile and strong enough to work through the crowds. At other times in the day, there is no trouble in making the trip to almost any part of Greater New York in considerably less than an hour. On the whole, I do not see that the metropolis is any more congested than Pittsburgh.

The Country Is Safe Now.

Judge Parker has the backing of "Big Bill" Devery. The "Sage of the Pump" has declared himself, and although, as he is quoted as saying, he "ain't never seen the man but twict," he believes he would be the proper representative of the Democratic party in the presidential campaign. So Judge Parker was duly indorsed last night by the William S. Devery association, and Devery himself is going to St. Louis at the head of a delegation of 25 to see that his honor gets a fair show. That should make Parker safe.

If You Want to Be Swagger.

If you want to be downright swagger this summer, you must wear an untanned calf skin belt, with the hair still upon it, showing the original markings of black or brown and white. Shoes of the same kind are also made, but are not popular yet.

The Rod Rules, Right or Wrong.

It seems cruel to set school children to debating on the question whether the rod should be restored, and then to decide that the affirmative wins. Yet that was done in a Brooklyn school yesterday. The decision was made part of the graduating exercises, and the young speakers were encouraged to say all that they could think of on either side, but particularly in favor of restoring the barbaric rod and birch to the curriculum. Of course, the debaters will not be affected personally. They have been graduated and are out of reach of the punishment they so blithely recommend. A Mr. Walker, president of the local school board, made the decision. It might have been fairer to leave it to a vote of all the pupils.

No Toy Pistols, Anyhow.

In this city there are about 3,500 retail dealers who hold permits to sell fireworks and all of them are doing a big business in anticipation of the Fourth. They must not sell toy pistols, however. There is a state law forbidding the selling or giving of toy pistols and if any of the retail dealers do sell such implements, they will lose their fireworks licenses. It is maintained that the pistol is the most dangerous article for making a patriotic noise that is known to the age. Fire Commissioner Hayes, upon whose shoulders will rest the responsibility of the Fourth of July fires, said today that if he had his way, there would not be any fireworks sold in the city. But they are sold, notwithstanding.

Not Safe to Be a Champion.

Bridge jumping is getting to be a disease in New York city. Some of the bridge jumpers of late have managed the trick without being hurt, and now it looks as if everyone with a few minutes to spare and a modicum of courage in his makeup, is looking for an opportunity to dive off one of the bridges across the East river. The more bridges, the more jumpers.

A stranger took a header from the Williamsburg bridge last night and his body has not been recovered. There is a rumor that he was a man named Parker, who had set up the claim of being the champion bridge jumper of the world. He seemed to be "broke," for he asked passers-by for money or tobacco before going upon the bridge and taking a drop from the center span. Two men who went off the Brooklyn bridge last week were not hurt. One did it on purpose and swam to shore, and the other, a painter, fell inadvertently and swam around until he was picked up. It is feared the "champion" was killed.

The Holiday Coincidence.

It is regarded by many persons as a fortunate coincidence that so many holidays fall on Monday, so that a vacation of at least three days comes to us all. It is only a month since we had Decoration day on a Monday and now we have the Fourth on the same auspicious day of the week. That means a vacation for Wall street, with the exchanges closed for two days besides Saturday—practically, at least. Saturday is not much of a day, anyhow, under ordinary circumstances, especially on the eve of the national holiday.

Waiting for the Next Step.

The general result of the verdict in the General Slocum case, so far as the public mind is concerned, is that everyone is waiting to see the next move of the directors who have been found guilty by the coroner's jury of manslaughter in the second degree. That there will be long drawn out litigation is evident. Nothing less could come from the present status of the matter. Delay is the salvation of those charged with crime of this kind. At the same time, the plain-spoken decision of the jury is creating a decided sensation.

Roof Gardens Offer Inducements.

Roof gardens need extra inducements nowadays, it seems. At one of them, that on Madison Square garden, automobiles will travel between the hotels and the garden every evening to carry patrons to the building with elevators to take them to the roof. The passage will be free. If the auto would go straight up to the roof without stopping, the novelty would be greater. But the arrangement, as it stands, is not a bad one. The roof garden will open on Saturday night next.

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

You may not think it, but the fact remains that about the most unfortunate thing that can come upon a young man is a fortune.

The average boy won't work if he don't have to, and as the boy is so is the young man and also the man.

Good fortune is not made up of dollars and cents, but of opportunities to do things that will be useful and helpful to the race.

You may think that if you had money you could be more helpful than without it. And so you might, but the chances are that you would not. This conclusion is based upon the fact—the great American fact—that the most useful and helpful people known in our history have been those who made their own fortunes.

Then there is the fact that the most of those who have fallen into fortunes have simply floundered and flopped around, finally dying like a thing out of its natural element.

However, if you had the chance you would take your fortune in money, and then flop around until you were completely worn out.

* * * * *

Money ruins the lives of more men and women than it makes.

And yet you would willingly take the stuff and risk the ruin that goes with it.

If you have improved your opportunities for observing men and things, you will have noticed that, as a rule, those who have had riches thrust upon them or who acquire them quickly through marriage or other speculations, have done little else than splurge and flop around. And after flopping out of life into somewhere else nothing more is heard of them, except that the bereft ones have erected a costly monument to their memories.

Such monuments merely mark the spots where their bodies are and not the places they occupy in this great world structure.

Every man erects and inscribes his own monument—the monument that perpetuates his name and keeps his memory green.

What does it matter where your body lies so long as the memory of your deeds remain, and your name is not forgotten by those who knew you, either personally or through your works?

Marble shafts and granite piles look well in graveyards, provided they are artistic in design and wrought with care, but they merely perpetuate the name of the deceased and not the memory of the man who bore it.

* * * * *

You may have known young men who struck it rich in some sort of speculation, and then proceeded to surprise their friends and neighbors with exhibitions of speed. Old schoolmates and chums were dazed with their success, and the girls who turned up their noses at them became all smiles, while old folks who had thought them no good felt honored in being recognized by them as they passed.

Where are these chappies now, these speedy boys, these youngsters who thought they knew what was what, also t'other from which?

Are they continuing on their journey at the same old speed? Are they still raking in the ducats hand over fist? Are you still enjoying them, or wishing that the same sort of fortune might overtake you and yours?

You may have to work day by day in order to live, and your work may seem like toil to you, but you can digest the food you eat, sleep at night and enjoy the company of your own folks, which is about all that anyone gets in this life and more than those get who attempt to live by their wits or on ill-gotten or unearned riches.

Could you but glance at the big book kept by the recording angel of Wall street you might cease praying for money. And yet you might not, for there are ever lambs begging to be shorn.

* * * * *

What would you do with it if you had a whole lot of money?

If not something of this sort, the chances are that you would seek the company of the rich and allow your associates of other days to plod along in the old-fashioned way. Should some of these slip or fall, would you go to their rescue? Or would you merely say it was a pity, but they could blame no one but themselves for not being rich, and then cast a few admiring glances at your own proud self?

But let us get right down to business.

For what do you want more honey than you have, or can earn?

Do you think you are more capable of using money than of earning it?

Would more money than you need from day to day enable you to be a better Christian than you are?

What kind of monument would you build for yourself if you were rich?

* * * * *

That it requires a great talent and as much genius to successfully handle and dispose of money as it does to make it, is certainly true.

In fact, men who have acquired great wealth by the exercise of their peculiar talents or by long study find it a veritable white elephant. How to dispose of it wisely and well is usually a more difficult task than was the making of it.

Rich men invariably bear the brand and may be recognized almost at sight. They become selfish, domineering and unsociable. Even in their own homes they are more or less uncompanionable, their thoughts and their hearts being altogether taken up with schemes for making money or for the undoing of their competitors.

The true business of man is to so live that others will be made happier while he lives, and the world be better for his having lived.

* * * * *

While thousands are trampled and crushed in the mad rush for riches, tens of thousands are destroyed by idleness. Therefore, we conclude that the worry and hustle of active business life is preferable to an idle, care free existence.

That Satan finds work for idle hands to do is as true as anything ever written.

It is true because idleness and worthlessness are yoke-fellows, and sin is the inseparable companion of worthlessness.

An idle fellow may not be openly wicked, yet whatever influence he may have over others will be injurious. Is he has money he will gather about him those who prefer to live at the expense of others rather than to earn the bread they eat, which is not only unmanly, but is dishonest and demoralizing.

You may know men and women who have become demoralized in this way. And you may have known rich, but idle people for whom Satan has employment.

The curse of idleness blights the woman as well as the man.

Mothers who have been intrusted with the care of daughters should keep this most important fact well in mind.

The Prohibition Vote.

In 1872 the Prohibition party secured but 5,600 votes. In 1876 its total was but 9,500, and in 1880 but 10,300. Then came the election of 1884, when Blaine was beaten by Cleveland. The Prohibition vote jumped suddenly to 151,000, due in great part to the fact that many Republicans of Prohibition leanings rejected their party candidate and, being unwilling to vote for a Democrat, felt themselves free to vote for St. John on the moral issue of drink. From this the party vote increased to 246,000 in 1888 and 264,000 in 1892, but with the fierce fight over sound money in 1896 the vote fell to 132,000. It rose to 209,000 in 1900.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Spenders

THE STROLLER.

He bought "her" books,
He bought "her" flowers,
He kept his money flowing
For pleasant looks
And happy hours,
Nor reckon'ed he of the blowing.

In his attire,
He e'er appeared
In raiment glad bedecked;
He did aspire
To be endeared,
Nor stopped he to reflect.

For months and years
His money went,
While in the foolish stage;
And then in tears
Did he repent—
For wisdom comes with age.

"The general run of American young men could very appropriately be termed 'The Spenders,'" declared a well-known Pittsburgher yesterday. "We live too rapidly in the years of our prosperity, and when the business reaction comes every few years, as it always does, we find it practically impossible to stew up. The result is debt that must finally be paid, or a loss of credit. Of all places where 'The Spenders' congregate, I think New York is the worst and most incurable. I was the guest of a little party there not long ago. There were four besides myself, and as I knew them all I felt perfectly at home with them. They felt just as free and easy as though there were not a fifth wheel to the wagon. We dined at a little hotel grill room where they have a good chef, good service and pretty stiff prices. All the four were regular guests at the hotel. It was as happy a party as I ever joined, and there was no stint in the ordering, which was done, by the way, by the one young woman at the table. The men gave her carte blanche, and she went ahead, only once or twice suggesting a selection between two or three different things. The dinner began with cocktails, and wine came with a piece de resistance. When the check came, the three men matched nickels to see who should settle the bill. The chap who lost calmly wrote his name across the bottom of it without even glancing over the items, then turning to the two others, said:

"'One of you fellows will have to fee the waiter. I'm down and out.'

"The other chaps went into their pockets and got out their change. There was just a quarter between them, and the fellow who paid the check added the nickel with which he had matched and lost, and the waiter got the 30 cents.

"To my knowledge," continued the Pittsburgher, "that little party of four (including the young woman, who admitted that she was down to postage stamps) make an aggregate salary of more than $200 a week, and yet they are all 'broke' by Thursday, if not sooner. And that is only a sample of the shiftlessness of the average salaried New Yorker. I don't believe we are quite that bad in Pittsburgh, but we are far from being as thrifty as we might.

"Do you know the cause of the carelessness of Americans in money matters?" inquired the Pittsburgher. Then he answered himself: "It's credit. Anybody can get credit. It is so easy to get into a hole that young fellows seem not to think anything of going 'broke.' Such a system is ruinous to the thrift of the country, and as long as there is practically unlimited credit to be had, there will be fools to accept all of it that is coming. Many business men, in the desire to promote trade, are responsible for the making of many debts which are never paid. The tailor, for example, will meet you on the street, and remark that you need a suit of clothes. Perhaps you have known the fact, but did not want to go into debt for it, and you tell the tailor you haven't the money to spare. 'Oh, that's all right,' he will probably answer, 'come around and get what you want. You can pay me when you get the money.' I have known that to occur more than once, and I have no particular pity for the tailor of that character who occasionally loses a good sized piece of money, for he is responsible for the making of the bill.

"And no matter where a fellow goes, his good credit will follow him. A case in point: I went to Denver a few years ago, and while there spent much time with a certain banker. I was seen on the streets almost daily, walking or driving with him, and one day I suddenly discovered the value of good association. I dropped into a haberdashery and ordered a few things. As the clerk was wrapping up the bundle, he remarked:

"'I'll send the package to your hotel, Mr. Blank. Will you have the bill charged?'

"I paid the bill, wondering, but it finally dawned upon me that my association with my friend, the banker, had made my name known and had given me a financial standing that might some day prove valuable if carefully nursed, for he was one of the solidest citizens of Denver. That incident only shows the foolishness of the credit system, when carried beyond reason, as it is in America. It gets people into such a hole that it makes life miserable for them.

"Everybody knows the thrift of the Germans. Do you know why they are thrifty? I was once told by a German friend that it was the lack of the credit system. To move from one German town to another you must have a passport, and you can't get a passport until you can show a clean financial bill of health. In other words, you cannot leave town until you pay your bills, or at least satisfy all your creditors. That makes it necessary to sail a little closer to the wind than do the shiftless 'spenders' in this glorious land of the free, and it's a mighty good scheme. If people do not know how to save their money they should have governmental restrictions placed around them. The power to earn money is great in this country, but also is the power to spend it."

Sacred scarabei, little Egyptian charms, are manufactured by a Connecticut firm. PAY THE FIDDLER.

Every time the traitor Folly chases Reason from her throne
Someone has to be the victim—some poor sinner must atone;
It's an old and truthful saying—printed on every page of fame—
They who dance must pay the fiddler; it's the ethics of the game.

In this world where Folly's minions are so largely in excess,
Many a "fiddler" gets his money, quietly, as you may guess;
And the world is none the wiser—not a chance is left for shame
To the man whose purse is equal to the limit of the game.

But, alas! for those who falter, those who hesitate to pay
For the music and the dancing through King Folly's night and day;
Such a one disgrace, dishonor, even penury, shall claim—
They who dance must pay the fiddler—'tis the order of the game.

MOORE THREATENS THE FIRE FIGHTERS

Denied of Vacation and Besides May Lose Days Off Each Month.

TREATED BADLY BY COMMITTEE

Mayor Hays' promise that all legislation to give the employes of the fire bureau a vacation this summer would be heeded, was carried out to the letter yesterday afternoon by the public safety committee of councils. The first resolution granting the vacation, was vetoed by the mayor on the excuse that it had been passed illegally. The second resolution, which was intended to meet the objections of the mayor, was referred yesterday to a sub-committee, the members of which were appointed to bury the measure so deep that it will not even see the light of judgment day. The sub-committee is composed of William McKelvey, John Barry and Andrew Pfannkuch, who are all opposed to the measure. Not only are the firemen to be denied of their summer vacation but there is a strong intimation by Director Moore, who appeared before the general committee yesterday, that the firemen are also to lose two of the four days off each month, which is now granted them. In addition, the five members of the committee appointed by the firemen to confer with the mayor and director about vacations, are likely to lose their jobs.

The only members of councils who have served is the fire bureau—William McKelvey and Samuel Shenkan—voted against the firemen's measure yesterday. McKelvey, in fact, led the fight in the council committee against the firemen and sought to add force to his motion to kill the bill by calling attention to the fact that he had once been a fireman. The resolution granting the firemen a vacation of two weeks had barely been read until McKelvey was on his feet to make a motion to refer it to a sub-committee. William Brand asked McKelvey why he made this motion. McKelvey said the matter ought to be investigated, although it had been before councils for more than a month, and he called upon Director Moore to give a more convincing reason. Moore showed that he was bitterly opposed to any request from the firemen and made some statements which signified that there is trouble brewing for some employes of the fire bureau. He said:

"We are now giving four passes a month, of 24 hours each, to every fireman, and only two of these passes have been legalized by councils. The other two were granted by the department, and they were granted without any necessity. I have only allowed the four days a month because it was the custom. The Pittsburgh fire employes are treated liberally in comparison with the firemen of other cities."

He said the Pittsburgh firemen were given an hour a day for each meal whereas Allegheny firemen get but one hour a day for all three meals. He asked that the resolution be referred to a sub-committee to that he could consult with the firemen and that some understanding could be reached about the four days which the firemen are allowed each month. He said he was opposed to the firemen getting the four days off a month during the vacation period. He thought that these matters should all be settled before the resolution was passed by councils.

Moore blamed the five members of the committee of firemen, who had called upon him, because they did not return to his office to get data from other cities which Chief Humphreys had gathered. "I have the names of these five firemen in my office," said the director in tones that did not mean good for these parties.

Brand disputed Moore's statement that Pittsburgh firemen were treated as well as the firemen of other cities, and he asked Moore for information about a number of the largest cities. Moore replied that he had all this data in his office but could not remember it. Brand then proceeded to read the data from a piece of paper which showed that other cities were in advance of Pittsburgh in this respect. The motion to refer the resolution to a sub-committee was adopted by a vote of 10 to 5, the members voting as follows:

Ayes—John Barry, Fleming, Kalchthaler, William McKelvey, Myers, Pfannkuch, Scheinritzauer, Shenkan, Wightman and Zoeleman Frederick—10.

Noes—Brand, Gulland, Hammer, Milby, Walters—5.

MORE MEN DEPORTED FROM CRIPPLE CREEK

Application Made for Writ of Habeas Corpus for Men Men in Bull Pen.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

DENVER, June 29.—Thirty-nine men were deported from Cripple Creek last night under military escort arrived in Victor today, joining the colony of exiles already established here. This colony numbers over 200 men and they have organized a local union affiliated with the Western Federation of Miners.

Up to date 183 men have been deported from the Cripple Creek district by the military authorities. In addition, hundreds fled to avoid arrest and incarceration. About 60 union miners against whom, it is said, criminal charges will be filed are still in the custody of the military at Cripple Creek and Victor.

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 29.—Application was made to Judge W. P. Zeeds of the district court today by Attorney Frank Hangs, representing the Western Federation of Miners, for writs of habeas corpus for Albert Billat, John Grogan and M. Greefer, confined in the county jail under military guard. Writs were issued directed to Sheriff Edward Bell.

The cases may be heard tomorrow. The object of the proceedings is to determine whether the union men under arrest against whom no charges have been filed are being held as military or civil prisoners.

The first "They can't come back" button reached the city today and was worn by Special Agent E. C. Sterling of the Mine Owners' association. Three thousand buttons will be distributed among those favorable to the movement to prevent deported men from returning to the district. Max Reisner, who was deported to the Colorado-New Mexico line two weeks ago, returned to camp, and was immediately placed under arrest and taken to the armory prison at Victor. He will be sent out again.

DISAGREED OVER REBATE SYSTEM

The Independent Sheet and Tin Plate Manufacturers Deadlock With Wage Committee.

MEETING ADJOURNED SINE DIE

The joint conference between the Independent Sheet Mill Operators' association and the Amalgamated association adjourned yesterday without effecting a settlement of the wage scale for next year. The manufacturers demanded a reduction of 20 per cent, but after considerable debate they agreed to pay 18 per cent less than last year's scale, which is the same as the men have been working for since the expanded conference, held in January and April. The hitch in the settlement occurred over abolishing the 25 per cent rebate on export orders.

The wage committee will meet the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company this morning and will take up the rebate question. It is on this issue that the disagreement exists, and unless a settlement is reached today all the sheet and tin mills affiliated with the Amalgamated association will close down.

At the annual convention of the Amalgamated association, held in Cleveland, a resolution was passed unanimously that the rebate system be abolished permanently. This compelled the wage committee to insist upon the stipulation in the new scale. The manufacturers are determined to have the rebate.

The rebate was established two years ago. The manufacturers claimed they could secure foreign orders if the workmen would suffer part of the cost for the payment of the duties. After a lengthy conference the tin plate workers agreed to accept 25 per cent reduction on all foreign orders. This placed the Amalgamated association members on an unequal basis. Those working on foreign orders worked for 25 per cent less than those on domestic orders. To even up the wages of the members they agreed that 3 per cent be kept back from all the workers, the same to be put in a fund, out of which is paid the 25 per cent necessary for the duties on foreign orders. Under this plan the workers, besides suffering a reduction of 18 per cent below the scale adopted a year ago, have the additional 3 per cent taken from their wages, making nearly 21 per cent less than last year's scale.

Only six plants were represented at yesterday's conference, but the wage committee was informed that the remainder of the independent manufacturers were willing to sign the scale agreed upon by those in conference.

WANT TO BE PRIESTS.

Much Competition for Free and Half-Free Scholarships Given by Bishop Phelan.

Bishop Richard Phelan was much pleased when informed of the eagerness with which Catholic youths accepted his offer of six free and six one-half free scholarships for those desirous of preparing themselves for the priesthood. The examination of 43 applicants was held yesterday.

Some weeks ago the pastors of the Catholic churches in the Pittsburgh Catholic diocese read to their congregations a letter from the board of synodical examiners, the Rev. Thomas Devlin, secretary, announcing that the bishop was able to provide the number of scholarships named for boys who wished to enter the priesthood, but could not afford to pay for the preparatory training for the seminary.

The 43 young fellows, candidates for the bishop's bounty, gathered in the school of Epiphany church in Washington street yesterday to undergo the examination. They came from McKeesport, Latrobe, New Kensington, Homestead, McKees Rocks and Beaver Falls. The examination was conducted by Fathers William Cunningham, M. A. Lambing and Thomas Devlin. The result of the examinations will be announced as soon as the examiners have inspected and classified the papers.

Homesteaders Try to Force a Conductor to Carry Them to Claim Filing Office.

VALENTINE, NEB., June 29.—A hundred and fifty homesteaders whose purpose it is to file on land under the Kinkaid law, which allows 640 acres to each entryman, last night held up a Chicago & Northwestern freight 50 miles east of Valentine and demanded that they be carried to this city where they wished to make their filings. The conductor was forced to side track his train and wait for a passenger train to carry the men to Valentine.

The rush for filing at this office was much greater than expected and several days will be required to receive the filings.

To the Studious Investor An Impressive Fact About

SCHWITTER WEST-VIEW

Is the Way It Is Selling.

When you come out now ask the conductor to let you off at THE NEW STOP. Get off at the HORSESHOE BEND. The fast selling of lots adjoining the OLD STOP OR STATION enthused us to push the completion of the sewerage and boardwalks on another piece of this remarkable property. You ought to see what wonderful sites are offered at $150 in this other piece, and how close they are to the great new traction line. People marvel not a little at how we are doing things. They know that their opportunity is slipping past and are taking advantage of it.

Persons familiar with industrial statistics, who know that Greater Pittsburgh must continue to seek broader territory for her spreading population, who realize that the territory which will be sought most must be attractive and contiguous to the business center, see in Schwitter West-View a location which, more than any other, meets all the requirements.

A residential district, to be eligible to Greater Pittsburgh's inevitable expansion, must have more than mere closeness to downtown Pittsburgh, and more than a traction line which touches some parts of it and is very far from other parts of it. It must have a traction line that touches all parts of it—one that you won't have to walk five or six squares to—one that will be in front of your home or a few steps from it—one that was built with a view to giving all of the residents equally convenient trolley car service.

That is the sort of trolley car service you will get at Schwitter West-View. AND MORE: You will get it from the finest trolley line that was ever built. The greatest traction engineers of Illinois, Ohio, New York State and the New England States say that our great Manifold Motor Line is unquestionably the finest trolley line that has yet been established in America. It is the only line in a great city that has been able to control so much valuable private right-of-way. Therefore, it will be able to run at any speed it deems best for the public good, and now, upon reaching its private right-of-ways, flies at the rate of 45 miles an hour, on safety tracks and a T-railed road, that are admired by every traction expert who has ever witnessed the sight.

But Schwitter West-View's remarkable trolley line would not appeal to investors so marvelously if the property was not the finest that NATURE and CAPITAL had ever created. The asphalt paved streets, the sand-filtered water from the largest standpipe system in Western Pennsylvania, the high-grade sewerage in all the streets, and the big arc electric lights which keep the highways at night almost as bright as day, are of magnitude and completeness no one ever saw before on a new property.

All this on a plan, with prices as low as $50, $75, $100, $150 and $200, is more of a surprise than experienced investors can get over in a little while. It makes folks realize that there are substantial reasons for the building activity that's going on over in Keating West-View Nos. 1 and 2, which were the beginning of this grand new residential city.

Take a Car Marked West-View, East St. and Madison Ave. at Liberty Ave. and 7th Street.

When the loop through Bellevue is completed you can take cars going either direction, which practically gives Schwitter West-View TWO great traction lines.

ELLIOTT GOES BEGGING FOR NEW POSTMASTER

Just When It Was Feared That the Borough Postoffice Would Be Closed, a Lone Applicant Turned Up.

As to the Elliott borough postmastership the office sought the man until last night. Mrs. Jane E. A. Fairman, who had held the position of postmistress for the last nine years, offered her resignation, to take effect on July 1, and to the surprise of the officials in Washington, there were no applicants for the office. Now things are changed.

"What's the matter with the politicians in Elliott?" said Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow to his chief clerk yesterday morning. "What are we going to do with the mail up there?"

"They seem to think that we should go uninstructed," replied the clerk. "It looks as if the office would have to be closed."

This view of the situation leaked out of Washington. Mr. Bristow communicated with Representative James W. Brown and is waiting for developments. His suspense will be short and the mail will likely come to Elliott as usual. The secret is plain.

It happens that over 90 per cent of the first-class mail matter handled through the Elliott postoffice is personal correspondence. There is comparatively little mercantile business done in the borough and commercial letters are few. And of the personal correspondence, the wise ones say that over 90 per cent are love letters. The number of billet-doux that go out and those that come into the West End suburb are about equal. Yesterday a spirit of uneasiness was felt among the pretty girls of Elliott. Somebody told them that Uncle Sam would stop the mail before the Fourth of July unless a new postmaster could be found. The girls were chagrined. They remembered that chocolates and bonbons cannot be sent by telephone.

The girls got to work with the enthusiasm of despair.

"Won't somebody take the postoffice?" they pleaded. They said they would have the ministers make the announcement at prayer meeting, and if no man would take the job, they would try some other scheme.

Just at this juncture William J. Scholz, one of the proprietors of the Elliott Hardware Company, appeared with a little petition that solved the whole problem. He is willing to become postmaster and will file his application immediately. The income from the office is from $150 to $250 a year. Elliott is in the new proposed free delivery zone and it is probable that the office will soon be abolished.

BOOM FOR GEN. MILES IS GAINING STRENGTH

Mass Meeting of Prohibition Delegates Held, and Speeches Made in His Favor.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, June 29.—The boom for Gen. Nelson A. Miles for the Prohibition nomination for president was given a decided forward movement by a public meeting of delegates and visitors at the state house following the adjournment of the afternoon session of the convention. Fifteen hundred persons were present, of whom over 400 wore delegate badges. Alonzo E. Wilson, the Illinois state chairman, presided. John G. Woolley of Chicago, editor of the Voice, gave evidence as to Gen. Miles' position. He said he had been in close communication with Gen. Miles during the last six weeks by letters, visits and conversations.

"I do not know that he will accept the nomination," said Mr. Woolley, "but I believe he will. I told him I was coming to Indianapolis to assist in his nomination unless he forbade me. He did not forbid me and if he were to allow me to come under these circumstances and then decline the nomination he is not the gentleman he should be."

Conversations with Gen. Miles were related by Mr. Woolley in which Gen. Miles said the Prohibitionists did wrong to confine themselves to one issue when there were such questions also as the civil service, the Constitution following the flag, the United States having subjects, popular election of senators, and the return of sovereignty to the hands of the people. Gen. Miles was quoted as saying there would soon be a breaking up of old parties, and in the realignment the liquor question would be one of the vital issues.

Reference was made by Mr. Woolley and other speakers to Gen. Miles' record as against canteens and his alleged mistreatment at the hands of the administration. The meeting was enthusiastic.

Gen. Miles was quoted on authority of the Rev. D. B. Turney of Illinois as having said he voted the Prohibition ticket in the last campaign and as being for the last four years a total abstainer.

The new national Prohibition committee, elected today, met tonight and organized by electing the following officers: Chairman, Oliver W. Stewart, Chicago; vice chairman, A. G. Wolfenberger, Lincoln, Neb.; secretary, James A. Tate, Harriman, Tenn.; treasurer, Samuel Dickie, Albion, Mich.

GERMANS COMPLAIN OF OUR CUSTOMS SERVICE

League of Manufacturers Presents Memorial to Chancellor Von Beulow and Others.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, June 29.—An important memorial on the American customs administration and German trade has been presented by the League of German Manufacturers to Chancellor von Buelow, Baron von Richthofen, secretary of foreign affairs; Herr Moeller, Russian minister of commerce and industry and to Herr Buenz, German consul general at New York, who is now in Berlin. The memorial is based on material which the league collected in accordance with a resolution adopted in 1903, and was written by the Saxon manufacturer, Alfred Petschow, who was sent to the United States to collect information among importers. The league summarizes its views in the following five points:

First—The American government should be prevailed upon to accept German manufacturers' declarations, sworn to before American consuls as evidence of value in all cases.

Second—It is necessary to re-introduce the former privilege of appealing directly to the American treasury department because, under the present practice, a decision rendered by the general appraisers cannot be overthrown even when the courts find it to be erroneous.

Third—The general appraisers should be required to communicate to an importer sentenced to the penalty and duty, and reasons for the board's decisions, so that the importer can defend himself.

Fourth—The practice of classing German goods sold in the United States as consigned and subject to special legislation merely because the invoices are made out in dollars and cents should cease.

Fifth—Shipments of goods and samples should not be detained in public stores as hitherto the buyers refused to take the goods because of too late delivery and the samples are no longer available for the approaching season.

The memorial complaining that such detention now occurs even when bond or security is offered. It concludes with reference to the importance of the German market to American exporters, as being much greater than that of the American market to Germany, and argues, therefore, that it is only a question of how the German government acts in the matter which will decide the response of the American government to the wishes of the German manufacturers.

HARVARD BREAKS RECORD.

Total Number of Degrees Conferred on Commencement Day Largest in Its History.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., June 29.—The weather for Harvard's commencement today was most unfavorable. Nevertheless the attendance was larger than in many years, especially of those from the ranks of the older graduates of the university. The procession to Sanders theater where the exercises were held was headed by the candidates for the honorary degrees and included Gov. Bates and his staff. Among the commencement speakers was Frederick W. Catlett of Wellsville, O., whose topic was "The Millionaire in Politics."

President Eliot admitted 500 candidates for the degree of bachelor of arts and degrees were conferred upon the candidates for bachelors of agriculture, graduates of the medical and dental schools, the law school and the divinity school. In all departments of the university the total number of degrees conferred today was the largest in the history of the institution. They were divided as follows:

Bachelor of arts 470; bachelor of science 86; master of arts 102; doctor of philosophy 46; bachelor of laws 172; doctor of medicine 130; doctor of medical dentistry 26.

Money Allotted for Militia.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Acting Secretary Oliver of the war department has made the usual annual allotment of the $3,000,000 appropriated by congress to provide arms and equipment for the organized militia of the United States. Part of the money is appropriated as follows: Ohio, $45,879; Pennsylvania, $67,822; West Virginia, $13,963.

SCARCITY OF TANS AND RUSSETS.

Enormous Demand for Bright-hued Shoes May Exhaust the Supply.

Just now when russet shoes are at the height of their popularity it has become known that there is a corner in the leather market on russet stock, from which tan shoes are made.

When shoe manufacturers were making preparations several months ago for the summer season but one of them, it is reported, foresaw the present demand for russet shoes. The concern which had so quietly and cleverly obtained a corner in the russet market is the Regal company of Boston.

The way the deal came about is interesting.

Two months ago the Regal style department received valuable information from foreign centers regarding the coming popularity of russet shoes for mid-summer wear. It seems that this method of getting the advanced information on future turns in the popular fancy is one of the policies of the Regal company.

The Regal representatives were practically the only ones who foresaw the great demand for bright-hued leather. They quietly scooped up every first-class russet skin on the market, and when they had secured their entire supply sufficient to meet their own estimated requirements it developed that they had in their possession about all the russet leather of the A1 grade and shade which will be available this season.

Trade reports are gathered that probably all shoe manufacturers except the Regal company are in serious straits on the russet leather question, for there is no more first-class stock to be had at any price and no more can be tanned in time for this season's use.

Over 100,000 square feet of russet leather has been made into oxford shoes for the 77 regal stores.

MANUFACTURERS AND MOLDERS DISAGREE

The Second Joint Conference Ended in a Deadlock Over Wage Agreement.

The joint conference between the Iron Molders Union of North America and the Manufacturers' association ended yesterday in a disagreement. The workingmen's representatives would not consider the terms offered by the manufacturers. The molders' committee will hold a meeting, probably today, to decide upon a plan of action. It is thought a convention of all the members in this district will be called to take final action in the matter.

The scale, as submitted by the manufacturers, did not suit the committee, which was made up of the national executive officials and the committee of the district council of molders. Besides asking the men to accept a reduction of 10 per cent, it called for a complete revision of the conditions in last year's agreement, and which the workingmen claim they will not tolerate under any circumstances.

The molders had considerable trouble last year in having their agreement signed by the Manufacturers' association.

WEST VIRGINIA DAY.

State Building at St. Louis Fair Dedicated, and Reception Given Gov. White.

ST. LOUIS, June 29.—The West Virginia state building was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies today. After an invocation by Dr. D. B. Purinton, president of the West Virginia state university, President Francis of the exposition delivered a short address. Col. Fred Paul Grosscup, vice chairman of the West Virginia commission, delivered the keys of the building to Gov. A. B. White, who accepted them in the name of the people.

The principal address was made by the Hon. John T. McGraw, who presented the state flag, which was unfurled today for the first time. The banner has a white field, with blue border, and a cluster of rhododendrons, the state flower, in the center of the white field. M. E. Whitaker, state chairman, presided, and the ceremonies were followed with a reception in honor of Gov. White.

Brides-Elect Need Not Appear.

Brides-to-be need not worry about going for marriage licenses to the register's office in person hereafter. Both parties to the marriage must make affidavit to the application, but the bride is not compelled to go to the court house with the groom-elect for that purpose. Aldermen and justices of the peace can take the necessary affidavits and both parties then need not appear. Attorney George D. Calder, representing the aldermen of McKeesport, argued the matter successfully.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

So uniformly successful has Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proven in all forms of Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, and Leucorrhea, that, after over a third of a century's experience in curing the worst cases of these distressing and debilitating ailments, Dr. Pierce now feels fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in cash for any case of these diseases which he cannot cure.

It Stands Alone.—The "Favorite Prescription" stands alone, as the one and only remedy for these distressingly common forms of weakness, possessed of such positively specific curative properties as to warrant its makers in proposing, and binding themselves to forfeit, as we, the undersigned proprietors of that wonderful remedy hereby do, to pay the sum of $500 in legal money of the United States in any case of the above diseases in which after a fair and reasonable trial of our treatment, we fail to cure. No other medicine for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments is backed by such a remarkable guarantee; no other medicine for woman's ills is possessed of the unparalleled curative properties that would warrant its manufacturers in making such an offer; no other remedy has such a record of cures on which to base such a remarkable offer.

Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and turn your back on any unscrupulous dealer who would insult your intelligence by attempting to foist upon you some inferior substitute, under the plea that "it is just as good." Insist on having the article which has a record of a third of a century of cures and which is backed by those willing to forfeit $500 if they cannot cure you.

In cases attended by a leucorrheal drain a solution of Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets should be used conjointly with the use of the "Favorite Prescription." They are sold by all druggists, or sent post-paid to any address, on receipt of 25 cents in stamps. Send 31 cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Address World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y.

SOMETHING DOING AT AMBUHL BROS. IN PIANOS

Their Annual Summer Clearing Sale of Pianos and Organs Now in Progress, Fully 30% to 50% Discount—Kimball, Steinway, Chickering Bros., Hallet & Davis, Kranich & Bach, Hardman, Mason & Hamlin, Brinkerhoff, Estey, and Other Good Instruments Included.

THIS IS THE WEEK FOR BARGAINS

This is the week for bargains in pianos and organs at Ambuhl Bros., their Annual Summer Clearing Sale being in full sway.

Discounts of from 30 to 50 per cent on standard makes of instruments is the magnet that is drawing the people.

Each year for several years past it has been the custom of this house to hold Summer Clearing Sales, making big reductions in the price of every instrument in their entire stock, thereby cleaning up all odds and ends that have accumulated during the year, and at the same time giving their patrons the benefit of big cuts in prices.

The bargains they are giving this year are even greater than ever before, as the discounts are larger and a greater number of the best makes of instruments are included. Here are Kimball, Steinway, Chickering Bros., Hallet & Davis, Emerson, Mason & Hamlin, Kranich & Bach, Whitney, Capen, Brinkerhoff, Hinze, Heller & Co., Davenport & Tracy and Lighte & Co., some second-hand, some only slightly used, and some entirely new, all marked in plain figures at a discount of from 30 to 50 per cent from regular price.

A beautiful $650 Kimball upright in a San Domingo mahogany case, used less than one year, was sold yesterday for $315.

Two Hallet & Davis uprights, one in mahogany, and the other in walnut, just like new, were also sold yesterday for $235 each. $450 was original price.

Three new Eastern-made uprights, the kind that usually sell for $225, went for $110 each.

Also one Emerson, one Hardman, two Brinkerhoffs and one Chickering Bros. at similar prices.

Many good organs are also being sold at prices ranging from $20 to $40 that are worth more than three times these prices.

This is a great opportunity for cash buyers, as they never had so much real piano value offered for their money before. Those wishing to buy on installments are also being accommodated.

A good Apollo piano-player, used less than one year, with a good supply of music, for $140, gives an idea of the bargains offered in this line of instruments. Good chance to take something of this kind to your summer home without much expense.

Excellent square pianos of the best makes, with carved legs and all in good order, from $30 to $60.

HOW TO AVOID DREAD TETANUS

City Physician Booth Tells Parents What to Do in Case of Accident.

ADVICE FOR COMING FOURTH

City Physician E. A. Booth issues warning to parents and physicians to guard against tetanus or lockjaw as a result of Fourth of July accidents. Dr. Booth intains the spread of tetanus germs be checked if the proper precautions taken. He said:

The character of our Fourth of July celetions seem to be very favorable to the deopment of tetanus. The germ of tetanus ons that cannot develop when exposed to air. The home of these germs is usually common street dust and the debris about blics. By throwing fire crackers around street and handling them the child's hand soon covered with dust.

It takes but a small wound to bury a porn of the infected skin and thus form a od incubator for the tetanus germ. The ank cartridge wad usually strikes the palm the hand and carries a circular disc of the in before it to the bottom of the wound. he wound made by the wad is usually small, t after entering becomes larger and exds along the tendon sheaths.

The germ is very resistant to the action of e usual germicides, carbolic acid and other lutions used in cleansing wounds. If the ound is not properly cleansed the symptoms tetanus develop within five or ten days, d when true tetanus develops the patient is lly dying. Any treatment then is almost lless.

A person receiving a blank cartridge ound should immediately be taken to a phyian, who should open the wound thoroughly, remove all burnt tissue, wood, powder, d, if possible, make a counter opening to low free entrance for air and drainage. he wound should be loosely packed and banaged.

Anti-tetanus serum should be injected at ce in the spinal canal, as near the seat of e wound as possible. In 12 hours the inction should be repeated. If tetanus should velop the patient should be placed in a ark room with deadened floors. His ears ould be plugged and every possible means hould be taken to avoid any disturbance hich might start spasms. We desire physicians to report all cases of tetanus to the epartment of health. The full history of the se should be given.

During the celebration of Independence y a year ago 4,449 persons were injured toy pistols and fire crackers in the ited States. Of that number 446 died, from tetanus. Of all the tetanus ses only seven recovered, the death rate ing 98 per cent. There were 23 deaths m tetanus in Allegheny county last ar.

A VETERAN OF THREE WARS CURED BY PE-RU-NA OF STOMACH CATARRH.

Captain W. W. Jackson.

"Pe-ru-na is infallible for Catarrh of the Stomach." W. W. Jackson.

Captain W. W. Jackson, 705 G. Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I am eighty-three years old, a veteran of the Black Hawk, Mexican and the Civil wars. I am by profession a physician, but long since abandoned the same.

"Some years ago I was seriously afflicted with catarrh of the stomach. My sufferings were protracted and severe. I tried every known remedy without obtaining relief. In desperation I began the use of your Peruna. I began to realize immediate but gradual improvement. After the use of three bottles every appearance of my complaint was removed, and I have no hesitation in recommending it as an infallible remedy for that disorder. I have recommended the same to many of my friends, who, after moderate use have realized the same result. I cannot speak too highly of its great remedial excellence."—W. W. Jackson.

More Than One-Half Our Ills Are Due to Catarrh.

It is rare indeed that one bottle of Peruna is not sufficient to convince anyone that Peruna is a good remedy. Once in the household, Peruna generally stays. More than one-half our ills are due to catarrh.

By catarrh is not mean simply catarrh of the nose or head, but catarrh of the lungs, stomach, in fact, every organ of the body.

Peruna acts as a tonic because it produces healthy mucous membranes in the stomach and digestive organs.

It immediately begins to brace a person up because it enables the digestive organs to do their duly properly.

This is why so many people have found it a substantial tonic.

Almost every disease begins at first with a catarrhal condition of some mucous membrane. A few doses of Peruna in the beginning is sure to prevent much sickness.

A reward of $10,000 has been deposited in the Market Exchange Bank, Columbus, Ohio, as a guarantee that the above testimonials are genuine; that we hold in our possession authentic letters certifying to the same. LOOMIS DRANK HEAVILY, SAY SHIP'S STEWARDS

Apparently Helpless on Deck Before the Vessel Reached Plymouth--Ellis Near By.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, June 29.—Today The Gazette correspondent saw Anton Rabier, Franz Lauw and Carl Stampel, stewards of the Kaiser Wilhelm II. before the ship sailed from Southampton. Rabier, the head steward, said Loomis drank heavily throughout the voyage, being usually in the company of Ellis. Before the Kaiser reached Plymouth Loomis was on the hurricane deck apparently helpless in a chair after the celebration below. Ellis was on deck with Loomis. One steward declares he saw Loomis at 11:30 in a chair, apparently asleep. Ellis was nearby. The hurricane deck was unprotected and a man awakened suddenly could easily have fallen overboard. At 12:30 the steward says Ellis' stateroom bell rang and Ellis asked the steward to look for Loomis whom he missed. They ship was searched in vain before and after reaching Plymouth.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., June 29.—Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Loomis arrived here today at noon from Washington. He has no information relative to his brother Kent's disappearance from the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II. except what has already been given to the public. He seems to place considerable reliance upon the story from Paris that Kent Loomis was seen going from the steamer at Plymouth, by Gustave Flamm. The Scotland yard detective force and one of the most famous continental secret service agencies are working diligently on the case. The object of Mr. Loomis' visit here is to secure for Mrs. Loomis as many points of identification as possible. It is evident that he has little hopes of his brother being found alive, although, if the story of his landing at Plymouth be true, it is not beyond the range of possibility that he may yet turn up.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—It was said at the state department today that there was still no news from any of the department's agents in Europe respecting the whereabouts of Frederick Kent Loomis. They seem to think it a case of mistaken identity on the part of Mr. Flamm who said he saw Loomis go ashore at Plymouth, in view of the accuracy, which has hitherto characterized the returns of the steamship company as to the boardings and landings of its passengers. However, assuming that Mr. Flamm may be right, the theory most generally accepted here is the missing passenger may have been concealed by some of his friends in a sanitarium, until he shall have recovered from his fit of abstraction.

BOLD THIEF ATE MEAL AFTER ROBBING HOUSE

Reserve Township Farmer Picks Berries Near His Home While Burglar Is at Work.

While Andrew Wilhever and his family were picking strawberries in a patch near their house in Reserve township yesterday morning, a thief ransacked the building and got away with money and jewelry aggregating $300. The burglar seems to be one of the boldest that is working in the outskirts of the city, for before leaving the house he ate a hearty meal and left evidences of the comfort he enjoyed all over the dining room table.

Wilhever is a truck gardener about two miles east of the city limits. At the time the robbery was committed he and his wife, with their three children, were in a berry patch not more than 300 yards from the house. When they returned for dinner they discovered that some one had been in the dining room and had eaten a quantity of strawberries and cream that had been left on the table.

In going through the house evidences of the depredations of the thief were found in every room. Drawers had been left lying on the floor and every cupboard had been entered. From Mrs. Wilhever's room a gold wedding ring, $71 in bills, a diamond engagement ring and a pair of gold bracelets had been taken. From another room three gold watches and a silver watch had been stolen and other less valuable articles had been carried away.

The robbery was reported to the Allegheny police in the afternoon by Wilhever, who drove to town immediately after discovering that his home had been robbed.

CAUTIONED AGAINST TAMPERING WITH LAWS

Judge Penrose Sends Humorous Letter to Pennsylvania Bar Association.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CAPE MAY, N. J., June 29.—A letter full of humorous comparisons and sarcastic allusions, caused a postponement of contemplated legislation recommended by the committee on law reform of the Pennsylvania State Bar association today.

The letter was written by Judge Penrose of the orphan's court of Philadelphia, and protested against tampering with existing laws. The writer compared the efforts of the committee to the proposal in "Gulliver's Travels," to extract sunbeams from cucumbers and bottle them for winter use, and the ancient suggestion that the plow could be done away with by planting acorns and turning swine loose to root them up.

Judge Penrose sent the letter to William H. Staake, the secretary of the association, who read it at this morning's session, while the discussion over an act to empower the orphan's court of Pennsylvania to have jurisdiction over the persons and estates of feeble-minded and mentally incompetent was in progress.

The act was drafted by Attorney Carpenter of Pittsburgh, who said that under existing laws the common pleas and orphan's courts have jurisdiction, but neither is wholly responsible.

Judge Penrose's letter stirred Alexander Simpson, Jr., to make a heated reply. He said: "As an excellent example of wit and ridicule, the letter Judge Penrose has forwarded is entitled to consideration, but it is not entitled to our respect as a remonstrance against the betterment of the laws.

George Mercer championed Judge Penrose's attitude against needless tampering with the laws. Judge MacFarlane of Erie, presided over the session.

CEMETERY HAS BEEN IMPROVED IN A YEAR

Superintendent Falconer's Report Shows That Much Progress Has Been Made.

Reports made by Superintendent William Falconer of the Allegheny cemetery at the annual meeting of the Cemetery association yesterday showed that the past year has been one of notable improvement. Nine acres have been graded as part of the general plan of "parking" the cemetery. This ground will be partitioned into interment lots. Roadways have been improved, several hundred trees planted and many acres have been sown in grass. On this work 80 men have been employed regularly throughout the year.

At the meeting yesterday the contract was awarded for a new receiving vault, which will be behind the greenhouses near the Butler street entrance. The building will be constructed of blue sandstone in the pure Gothic style of architecture. It will contain 54 crypts and will be completed by November 1. The vault will be one of the finest mausoleums in the country.

At the meeting the deaths during the year of two of the 40 corporators was reported. They were A. E. W. Painter and Henry W. Oliver. To succeed them J. Painter, Jr., and Edward Dravo were chosen.

In the election of officers for the year Charles E. Speer was re-elected president and John A. Moore secretary and treasurer. The board of managers chosen is the same as last year, with the exception that Durbin Horne succeeds the late A. E. W. Painter. The full membership of the board is Charles E. Speer, F. C. McCandless, Frank S. Bissell, John B. Jackson, George A. Berry, Nathaniel Holmes and Durbin Horne.

WILLIAM T. COBB NAMED.

Nominated for Governor by Republican State Convention of Maine on First Ballot.

BANGOR, ME., June 29.—The Republican state convention assembled here today with William T. Cobb of Rockland, Charles H. Prescott of Biddeford, Bert M. Fernald of Poland and Eliot Wood of Winthrop, rival candidates for the gubernatorial nomination. United States Senator Hale was made temporary chairman and later the temporary organization was made permanent. Congressman Littlefield placed in nomination Wm. T. Cobb who was nominated on the first ballot, he having received 673 of a total of 1,248 votes cast.

While the ballots were being counted, the committee on resolutions reported a platform which was adopted without opposition. The platform declares for protection "which safeguards American well paid labor against the competition of cheap foreign labor." A sound currency with gold as the basis; favors reciprocity which covers the interchange with foreign countries of articles not produced in this country and our own products needed in such countries, but opposes reciprocity with Canada and recommends "proper aid" by the government in building up the American marine. The achievements of the national administration during the last four years are set forth in terms of praise and the support of the party in this state is pledged to Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

UMPIRE WRIGHT DECIDES AGAINST COAL COMPANIES

Sustains Miners' Contention That Employers Should Collect Wages of Checkweighmen.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SCRANTON, PA., June 29.—In a letter to district president T. D. Nicholls, of the United Mine Workers, Umpire Carroll D. Wright today sustained the contention of the miners that it is incumbent on the companies to collect from the miners the wages of the checkweighmen or docking bosses.

The Scranton Coal Company, the Pennsylvania Coal Company and the Temple company, employing 20,000 men, refused to collect for checkweighmen and docking bosses from the wages of such miners as refused to make written assignments authorizing the deductions.

A strike was threatened but the executive board decided to refer the matter to the district convention which meets in Pittston next Monday. In the meantime District President Nicholls laid the matter before Umpire Wright in a letter. Umpire Wright today replied to the letter. He says in this communication that a proportionate share of the wage of the checkweighman must be deducted from the salary of every miner. If the company feels that it should have an assignment from each man the making of such an assignment should be made a condition of employment.

None of the managers of the affected companies would say today what they proposed to do about the ruling, but it is generally regarded here as a certainty that they will follow Umpire Wright's decision and that the threatened strike is off.

To carry out their pretended threat they threw the other end of the rope over a stout limb of a tree. As thus engaged, several police arrived. The wouldbe white caps hastily fled and escaped and Fricke was released from his unpleasant predicament.

2—Neither of the constituent bodies of the American Jewish synod shall by this act of confederation lose its identity or discontinue its periodic conventions and regular activity.

3—The synod shall consist of one-fifth of the members of the conference and an equal number of lay delegates from the union, all duly elected. Two-thirds of the membership of the synod shall constitute a majority for all votes.

4—The synod shall meet every five years for the consideration of questions submitted to it by either the conference or the union.

5—The synod shall have an executive board of at least 10 men, consisting of the president, who shall be a member of the conference, and five members from the conference and four members from the union.

The report of the committee was not acted on at the morning session, but the indications were that a majority of the members of the conference would vote to approve it.

Other business transacted included a report on the conditions of circuit work during the last 10 months by Rabbi Geo. Zepin of Cincinnati, director of circuit work. The report showed that as a result of circuit work during that time 43 congregations, with 898 members and 742 children in the Sunday schools, were organized. During the first year the new members paid in over $28,000, about nine times the amount spent on circuit work.

WORKMEN WILL HAVE TWO DAYS' VACATIO

Many of the mills and workshops in the Monongahela and Turtle Creek valleys will give their employes two days this year to celebrate the Fourth of July. Every style and kind of shirt made is embraced. The materials include the finest printed and woven madras, cheviot, nainsook, batiste, madras and jacquard. YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 29.—The Pittsburgh champions were furnished with something of a surprise party here this afternoon, when they were beaten by Marty Hogon's Ironworkers, 9 to 1, in a well-played game.

Camnitz was on the rubber for the Pirates, and he did not seem to have anything in the curve line to fool the local batters. In the third inning his benders were batted all over the field and six runs was the result, among them a home run by Hanford.

Hans Wagner, who was in charge of the Pirates, made himself unpopular with the Youngstown fans when Tommy Leach got in and pitch after he was convinced that the champions were beaten. At this time it looked as if the Pittsburgh team was to be whitewashed, and the fans were highly indignant against Wagner should resort to such mean methods. The spectators hissed and howled and the local management objected, with the result that Miller replaced Camnitz, who should have been retired earlier, as the locals found his delivery easy.

The Pittsburghs played such a game that the spectators became disgusted and yelled for their money back, so free was the game. Locals made five hits, which, coupled with a base on balls, gave them six runs in the third, when, with two out and three on bases, Hanford made a home run to right field. Then Wagner got on to the Pittsburgh team and knew they were up against it. In the meantime the Pirates could do nothing with Hughes' delivery. The locals would have won from Miller, for they made a couple of runs and did not find his delivery difficult.

Pittsburgh got its only run in the eighth on hits by Beaumont, Kruger and Phelps. It would not have scored a run but for Leach, of the credit due him for a hard played game. He fielded well, hit as hard as he could and was in the game all the time. Had his fellow players played as well the game would not have been so one-sided. Score:

Tonight the Pittsburgh Elks' team will tackle P. A. C. at Friendship park at 6 p. m. for the second time this season. The last time these teams met the P. A. C. team came out on top with the assistance of Doc Scanlon, lately with the Pittsburgh league team. The Elks, not being satisfied with their defeat, asked Manager Wentz for another trial, as the heavy hitters of Manager Ewing's tribe were absent from the game, but will be on hand tonight to give an acount of themselves. SMALL CROWD IS EXPECTED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW LONDON, CONN., June 29.—This old-fashioned New England whaling town is full of excitement tonight over the Yale-Harvard boat race, which takes place on the Thames tomorrow. Hundreds of collegians from New Haven and Cambridge arrived on the afternoon train and thousands of graduates and admirers of the two crack New England universities are expected tomorrow.

There is very little betting on the varsity race, but what little there is makes Yale a hot favorite at odds of 10 to 6. While there will unquestionably be a big crowd at tomorrow's race, the attendance will fall far short of previous years. Last year and the year before something like 20 or 30 special cars carrying society folk came from New York alone, while this year only four special cars have been engaged, and instead of a fleet of 200 or 300 yachts, which usually greet the victors, scarcely 75 have been assigned places at the finishing line this year.

Tomorrow's races will include a freshman race at two miles; a four-oared race at two miles and the big varsity race at four miles. The official program as now arranged will be as follows:

Freshman race—Two miles. Will be started at 10:30 a. m. from the drawbridge; rowed up stream, finishing at the navy yard.

Four-oared race—Two miles, will be started immediately after the freshman race ends at the navy yard upstream, to the starting point of the two-mile course.

University race—Four miles, will be started at 12:30 p. m. and rowed down stream, finishing at the drawbridge.

In tossing for position Harvard had luck with her toss today and won the choice of positions in every race. Her representatives then picked the eastern course for the freshmen race and the westerly course for the other two races. While, of course, boat races are almost as uncertain as horse races, Harvard's crew is reported to have the best and fastest crew that ever sat in a boat, while her freshmen are said to possess tremendous speed. The wearers of the blue are a wonderfully cocky lot of men tonight.

As for Harvard, no one seems to know quite where they are at and her numerous defeats on the water in recent years, combined with an unsettled rowing policy, has shaken the faith of her undergraduates.

So far as the local experts have been able to follow the course of the two crews, Harvard has only rowed over the full course twice at speed, but in neither practice was the crew faster time than Yale. The Yale crew, on the other hand, has made some remarkably fast time in practice over the full course and Coach Kennedy will be a much surprised man tomorrow if the New Haven crew is beaten.

Yale this year is using a longer swing than usual and has adopted the narrow English oar with a drop down the center. About the only noteworthy fact in connection with the Harvard shell is the affidavit signed by her crew, to the effect that her men are better boated than they ever were before, and that their shell is now rigged so that it suits every member of the crew to perfection.

Since 1852, when the first Yale-Harvard race was rowed on Lake Winnepsaukee, the two colleges have met in 36 races, of which Yale has won 19, or more than half. Harvard, however, has not won a race since 1899.

SMALL SIZED RIOT AT AN AMATEUR GAME

Constable and a Fireman Were in the Mixup, and Both Landed in the Lockup.

The meeting between the Imperial Juniors and the Zangwill team of the County league, on the Bedford basin grounds, was an event that the good people of that district will not forget in a hurry, as it furnished all kinds of excitement and wound up in an incipient riot in which the police finally took a hand and made a couple of arrests.

There is considerable rivalry between the teams and when they appeared on the field of action last night each team was backed up by a legion of friends, who were loud in their cheering. The shouts of the rooters were so loud that a great crowd was soon gathered, and in a short time the playing field was nearly surrounded, while the surrounding banks were black with people. As the game progressed the excitement ran high and fist fights became a common thing.

Finally, when the fifth inning was reached, with the Imperials in the lead, the rooters began to scrap among themselves, in which a constable of one of the hill wards and a member of the colored fire company, who were making things lively, got after each other. In a few minutes the disputants were surrounded by a howling crowd, and the police who were on hand, but up to this time had kept quiet, took a hand. The constable and the fireman were placed under arrest and the policemen had all they could do to get the pair away from the crowd, which seemed to want to rescue the prisoners. The pair were finally landed in No. 2 police station. This trouble put an end to the ball game, which stood 10 to 5 in the Imperials' favor. In justice to the players, it is stated that they tried hard to prevent the trouble.

PROMISE A STATE[illegible]

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

FRANKLIN, PA., June 29.—The family of Miss Helen Barnett announced this evening that she and Joseph Paul Bradshaw of New York were married in New York this afternoon. The announcement was no less startling than the sudden postponement of the wedding on Tuesday. Information from members of the Bradshaw family during the day stated that Joseph had no intention of being married for a year. Friends here are utterly unable to reconcile the two statements. The Barnett family have been very reticent thus far, but they promise a statement tomorrow when Mrs. Barnett returns from New York.

NEW YORK, June 29.—(Special.)—The relatives of Joseph Paul Bradshaw, the young broker, who, according to dispatches from Franklin, Pa., was to have been married to Miss Helen [illegible]rnett, of that city, yesterday, but failed to appear, a telegram saying he was ill being received instead, vigorously denied today that any wedding had been arranged for Tuesday, although they admit that an engagement existed between the young man and Miss Barnett. Those denouncing the telegram saying he was ill, which brought Miss Barnett, her mother and brother to this city on a special train, as a forgery, although the name of Percy Bradshaw, the prospective bridegroom's brother, was attached to it.

Young Mr. Bradshaw has given no public explanation himself. It was said by his father today that he met Miss Barnett and her mother and brother when they arrived here yesterday, spent the day and the evening with them and would spend most of the day in their company. A search of all the principal hotels in the city today failed to reveal their whereabouts. Mr. Bradshaw [illegible] is associated with the firm of Cla[illegible] & Co. of Wall street, did not [illegible] that office today.

The Largest Steamer in the World, the White Star Line's [illegible] S. Baltic.

It is an interesting coincidence that the year which witnesses the triumph of the greatest of the many great exhibitions Americans can proudly look back upon, should also welcome the advent of the "Baltic," the latest White Star leviathan and incontestably the mightiest steamer ever launched.

The "Baltic" arrived at Liverpool yesterday from the yard of the builders, Messrs. Harland & Wolff, Belfast; she left the Mersey on the 29th inst. and is due in New York on the 7th of July. Undoubtedly her arrival will afford convincing ocular proof that the White Star Line intends to maintain its reputation as forerunner of those commercial efforts in ocean travel which have long since won it so honorable a name.

The "Baltic" can carry 3,000 passengers besides a crew of about 350. All her first class accommodation is amidships. The grand dining saloon situated on the upper deck, is a very handsome apartment, and extends the full width of the ship—75 feet. It has seating accommodation for 370 people; is exceedingly lofty and airy, and with its effective scheme of decoration which unites artistic taste and brightness of aspect, can claim to be one of the most palatial saloons on the Atlantic.

The first class smoke room and library on the upper promenade deck, are also luxurious apartments, wherein everything that tends to the comfort of passengers is apparent, whilst the staterooms have been devised to meet the wants of the most fastidious traveler. They consist among others of single berth rooms—of which type it may be noted the White Star Line was the originator—and rooms en suite, these latter consisting of bed, sitting and bathrooms, for such as are prepared to pay for the extra privacy enjoyed.

Immediately abaft the first class accommodation is that of the second class, whose interests have been carefully watched. To the voyager of but a decade or two ago the size and decorations of the dining saloon, smoke room and library will come as a revelation, and the staterooms in comfort and ventilation are in every way excellent.

With the exception of a limited space forward of the third class passengers are provided for abaft the second class. For no section of the traveling public have greater improvements been made on ocean steamships in recent years than for the third class, whose quarters on the "Baltic" consist of commodious dining rooms (fitted with tables and revolving chairs) where passengers are waited upon—as in the other steamers of the line—by stewards; comfortable smoke rooms, and a large number of two, three and four-berth staterooms.

The command of this latest wonder of the seas has been entrusted to Lieut. E. J. Smith, R. N. R., an officer of ripe experience, who is well known to travelers across the Atlantic as having hitherto had charge of the popular "Majestic."

With the addition of the "Baltic" the White Star Line's magnificent fleet now consists of 31 steamers—besides tenders—the aggregate tonnage of which amounts to the huge total of just 360,000 tons. Of these 31 steamers, no fewer than 27 are fitted with twin screws, whilst 21 are each over 10,000 tons, as a result of which latter fact, the average tonnage of White Star steamers is immeasurably greater than that of any other line; and, as has been seen, it possesses in the "Baltic," "Cedric" and "Celtic" the three largest vessels afloat. Mention, too, should be made of the well known "Oceanic," 17,300 tons, than which no more luxurious steamer crosses the Atlantic. It is of further interest to note that the passenger services of the White Star Line are maintained entirely by twin screw steamers.

SOCIETY

ALEXANDER M. JENKINSON, president of the Country club, was the guest of honor at a dinner last evening in the new club house in Squirrel Hill. It was a surprise affair arranged in honor of Mr. Jenkinson, who has been president of the club for the last eight years, and the guests included the members of the club only. Mr. Jenkinson arrived at the club house soon after 7 o'clock and found his friends all gathered to greet him. Dinner was served at 7:30 in the main dining room. There were eight tables, arranged to accommodate the 175 guests present. At the central table sat the club's president and the members of the committee which arranged for the entertainment, which was resolved into a testimonial to Mr. Jenkinson for his energy and success in conducting the affairs of the club, the completion of the new club house and the enlarged scope of the club, which was decided upon within the last few months. The dinner was made the occasion for presenting Mr. Jenkinson with a complete silver dinner service, the presentation speech being made by ex-Senator William Flinn, who spoke on behalf of the club. After the presentation there were several impromptu speeches, W. H. Keech acting as toastmaster.

The dining room of the new club house was very handsomely decorated with masses of palms and other tropical plants. Upon the table where Mr. Jenkinson and the members of the committee, consisting of W. H. Keech, chairman, William Flinn, W. Linford Smith, J. Dawson Callery, F. M. Lowry, Albert J. Logan, D. L. Gillespie and John G. Bennett were seated, was a large centerpiece of American beauty roses and white phlox. The other seven tables were decorated with larkspur and maiden hair ferns. Asparagus was gracefully wreathed about the doorways and windows, and the fireplace was massed with palms and ferns. At each cover were boutonnieres of white carnations.

House-Warming of Oakmont Club.

One of the most important events in the social history of Oakmont will be the housewarming of the new Oakmont Boat club on Monday afternoon, July 4. Six hundred invitations have been issued by the entertainment committee, consisting of Tabor Johnston, chairman; A. McC. Harry G. Budd, William Tomlinson and Frank Hunter. An informal reception will be held from 1 o'clock until 3 when the guests will inspect the house, which will then be declared formally opened. Carpenters and painters are still at work on the building and several of the younger members have volunteered services in order to be fully prepared for the event on the Fourth. The regatta will follow the reception.

The clubhouse has been erected at a cost of $6,000, to serve not only as a center for aquatic sports, but also for social activity and as an auspicious beginning in this direction an informal dance and card party will round out the evening's program on Monday. The receiving party will be composed of the officers of the club: Commodore, William P. Dutt; first vice commodore, Tabor Johnston; second vice commodore, C. Ludlow Livingstone; treasurer, Frank M. Alexander; secretary, Francis Keating. The house committee which has in charge the furnishing includes C. Ludlow Livingstone as chairman; Walter G. Schnabel, Thomas Hunter, Harry H. Willock and Dr. Gustave Mueller. The house is painted a pretty yellow and white, and the basement are the lockers, canoe racks, the furnace which will heat the second floor, and the bowling alley. The contract for the alley has not been let, but when finished it will be in yellow pine and will cover one-half of the basement floor.

The main entrance to the clubhouse is through the reception hall finished in dark oak, the walls being tinted a dark green. A brick fireplace in one corner of the room will be a feature of this apartment, which opens directly into the ladies' parlor, finished in green and white and fitted up with wicker furniture. A dressing room adjoins the ladies' parlor. Directly behind the reception hall is the smoking room, one of the largest in the clubhouse. Two shades of green and red will tint the walls of the smoking room with its pretty mission furniture. High French windows with diamond panes open from this room on the long verandas extending along the entire side of the building fronting on the river. At the opposite side is the billiard room, which is to be a model apartment of its kind.

The kitchen and small dining room at the rear complete the second floor, while on the third are the ball room and small serving room and the steward's apartment. A veranda also reaches the entire length of the side of this floor.

Postponed Because of Floods.

The lawn fete that was to have been held at the Boys' Industrial home in Oakdale today has been postponed. Indisputable Evidence.

You have read our oft-repeated statement, "In use for over 30 years." It was in the early sixties that Dr. Pitcher first made use of the prescription now universally known as Castoria. With a record of over fifty, under five years of age, out of every hundred deaths, it was the AMBITION OF EVERY PHYSICIAN to discover a remedy suitable for the ailments of infants and children that would decrease this distressing mortality. In Castoria that relief has been found.

Let us take the statistics covering the deaths in the City of New York for the past 30 years, and here we find the benificent effect of a combination of drugs excluding opiates and narcotics so long sought for, namely: CASTORIA.

Of the total number of deaths in New York City in 1870, 50 per cent. were under five years of age; in 1880, 46 per cent.; in 1890, 40 per cent.; in 1900, 35 per cent. only. Just stop to think of it.

Until 1897 no counterfeits or imitations of Castoria appeared on drug store shelves, but since that date Mr. Fletcher has been called upon to suppress a number of these frauds. While the record for 1900 does not come down to our expectation it is owing to the carelessness of mothers when buying Castoria. The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is the only safeguard, and he alone is authorized to use the doctor's name.

NEW YORK SAFE FOR REPUBLICAN TICKET

Duell Says Electoral Vote Will Stand 317 to 169 in Favor of Roosevelt.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Charles H. Duell of New York, former commissioner of patents, and who will be assistant censor of the Republican national committee, conferred with President Roosevelt today. Mr. Duell says that New York is safe for the president.

"I was never more confident of anything in my life," he continued, "than that President Roosevelt will be elected to succeed himself. I have done some figuring on the results and my prediction is that the electoral vote will stand 317 to 169 in favor of the Republicans, and that is with all due apology to Gen. Grosvenor."

Mr. Duell has something of a reputation as a prognosticator. He came within a few votes of naming the number of electors votes President McKinley received in 1896 and again in 1900. When in the patent office Mr. Duell and Cornelius N. Bliss, who was then secretary of the interior, were warm friends.

In selecting a depository for your savings don't overlook age, management and financial strength. Be satisfied about these things, then go ahead. If we were to make a selection on these lines we would name the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings, Smithfield street and Fourth avenue. It has all these essentials. It has a greater number of depositors and amount of deposits than any other capitalized savings bank in Pennsylvania, and pays four per cent compound interest on savings accounts.

NEW YORK STOCKS FIRM, BUT TRADING VERY LIGHT

The Market Ignored Poor Railroad Earnings and Unfavorable Crop Reports and Closed at Small Net Gains—Local Stocks Steady.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market yesterday ignored the poor railroad earnings and the unfavorable crop reports and held steady all day, but the volume of trading was extremely light. For the first hour the sales were about 40,000 shares, for the second hour 30,000 shares and for the three remaining hours the average was less than 20,000 shares an hour. Metropolitan Street Railway was the strongest and most active of the entire list. It opened at 100½ and reacted to 108⅝, but in the late dealings ran up to 111 and closed at the top, a net gain of 1½ per cent. The street was agreed that the movement was based upon shorts covering, and the extent of the short interest is evidently larger than supposed. Brooklyn Rapid Transit did not share in the improvement, despite estimates of a good showing for the fiscal year closing today.

There was very little feature to the industrial list, aside from its extreme dullness. If a trader had bought Amalgamated Copper at the lowest and sold it at the highest he would have lost money for the reason that the extreme fluctuations did not cover the amount of broker's commission due on a purchase and sale. In the case of United States Steel preferred, if a trader had bought the stock at 85½, the opening and lowest price, and sold it at 85¾, the highest price, he would have made not a single cent after paying broker's commission. These two stocks are the leaders of the industrial list and when they remain so narrow that a professional trader cannot make even the smallest turn in them, there is no inducement for the outside public to speculate.

Railroad stocks displayed the same indifference to earnings that has been a conspicuous feature of the market all week. Erie reported for May a decrease of $450,000 gross earnings and a decrease of $265,000 in net, and traders naturally looked to see the market affected; but Erie common opened unchanged at 23½, and advanced at the close to 25¾, the final sale representing a net gain of ⅝ over the previous day. Southern Railway, which has been doing fairly well as gross earnings, reported a decrease in net for May of $187,000, but the common stock lost only an eighth of a point, and remained unchanged at 21. Similarly with Colorado Southern, which reported a decrease in net earnings for May of $50,000, and all three of the stock issues remained absolutely unchanged.

The course of Atchison was another illustration of the indifference of the market to news. The stock opened at 72½, declined to 72⅜, and rallied to 72¾. This was in the face of reports as to crop conditions in that territory. A recognized authority in the grain trade, who is now traversing the winter wheat and corn belts, wired from Emporia, Kan., during the day that the continued heavy rains in the Missouri valley are damaging wheat and corn prospects. He said the present was the third flood of the season; that the rivers were out of their banks in eastern Kansas and that the corn planted on the bottom lands had been damaged beyond repair. Wheat was reported to be over-ripe and the fields too soft for harvesting in parts of Missouri and Illinois the backwardness of the corn crop was thought to be a serious matter. These reports, while they affected grain markets, had no effect whatever on the stocks of railroads traversing the grain belt. It looked as though owners of securities had reached the conclusion that this country this year would reap average crops, or if not, then prices already discounted the worst that could happen. It is very generally conceded that if there were no uncertainty regarding the crops or the duration of the present business reaction, prices of stocks would be much higher, and that the market during the past month has demonstrated that securities are in strong hands.

There will be no market for either grain or stocks on Saturday or Monday, and immediately following the holiday the Democratic national convention will come to a head. Reading the signs and the political developments next week, Wall street does not look for any increase in speculation or investment.

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday what little business was transacted was well distributed and the tone of the market was steady. Crucible Steel common sold to the extent of 500 shares at 4½@4⅝, the largest dealings in the stock for some time past. There was only one sale of the preferred, 50 shares at 35¾. Pittsburgh Coal preferred and River coal preferred were a fraction higher, while Manufacturers Light and Heat and Westinghouse Electric were a fraction lower, but just at the close Electric rallied 70-77 bid. At the bank call 45 shares Iron City Trust sold at 116 ex-dividend, a rally of 1½ per cent.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

More than a third of the business on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday was in Crucible Steel common, 900 shares changing hands at 4¼ to 4½. The market closed at 4⅜ bid, 4⅝ asked. The preferred was a fraction lower on the sale of 50 shares at 35¾, and that the company is getting some very fair orders in foreign markets, and that domestic trade is keeping up relatively better than other branches of business, would seem trustworthy information is given out by the company. A great deal of irritation is manifested by outside stockholders over the absence of any official statement relating to the actual financial condition of the company as the result of the closing of the Clairton deal.

A small lot of American Sewer Pipe stock sold at 20¼, a decline of 1¼ per cent from the last previous sale. The bonds were firm and higher at 96 bid, 97⅝ asked.

Manufacturers Light and Heat sold off to 30¾, but subsequently rallied to 30¾ bid, and closed firm. Ohio Fuel Supply was unchanged at 37 bid, and Philadelphia Company a shade lower at 38¾ bid.

Pittsburgh Brewing 6s were unchanged at 114. Monongahela Street Railway 5s sold at 111¾, a decline of 3¼ per cent from the last previous sale.

Westinghouse Airbrake was neglected, there being neither sales nor quotations yesterday.

The Guarantee Title and Trust Company has declared a ¾ regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent, payable July 1 to stock of record June 30.

The directors of the First National bank of Sewickley have declared a dividend of 5 per cent out of the earnings of the past six months.

The Manufacturers' Gas and Coal Company has declared a quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent, payable July 20 to stock of record July 1.

Dividends declared by the Colonial Trust Company group of banks and trust companies included the regular semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent ½ for the Colonial Trust Company, the regular 10 per cent quarterly dividend by the Freehold bank, the second dividend at that rate; the regular 4 per cent semi-annually by the Germania Savings bank and also an extra dividend of 2 per cent by Germania; the regular 4 per cent quarterly by the Columbia National bank and 3 per cent by the Colonial Trust Company of Sharon, all payable July 1.

The Second National bank of Allegheny has declared a quarterly dividend of 5 per cent.

The Marine National bank has declared a semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent.

The Workingman's Savings Bank and Trust Company of Allegheny has declared the quarterly dividend of 3 per cent, payable July 1.

The Chesapeake & Ohio reports an increase of $115,782 in gross and $26,762 in net earnings for May, and $2,873,257 in gross and $768,230 in net for the 11 months ended May 31.

The Chicago board of trade will be closed on Saturday as well as on Monday. It is quite unusual for the board to take a double holiday.

The Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh reports decreases of $25,937 in gross and $57,651 in net earnings for May, and an increase of $96,111 in gross and a decrease of $77,023 in net for the 11 months ended May 31.

Statistician Jones estimates the winter wheat yield at 344,000,000 bushels, a decrease of 37,000,000 bushels compared with last year. He credits Kansas with 72,000,000 bushels and Oklahoma with 19,000,000 bushels, but says the Ohio valley will be very short of an average yield.

The Lehigh Valley directors have declared a dividend of 1 per cent on the common and a dividend of 1½ per cent on the preferred stock. This is the first dividend in five years for the common stock.

The Citizens Deposit and Trust Company of Sharpsburg has declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent, payable July 11.

The Pennsylvania National bank has declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent, payable July 1.

July 1st disbursements are to be apparently close to the high record, and it is expected that a large temporary demand for loans may result. But no present anxiety over the money market can be confured up.

While it is possible to point out isolated occasions when, for a single day, there was less business done on the New York stock exchange than any day in the current dullness, it is undeniable that the lack of interest in the stock market and the dullness of the average business for a given period are more pronounced now than for many years past. Large transactions in such a stock as Phoenix Mining save the record in actual number of shares transacted, but in point of value the issues shares are of a par value of one dollar, thus requiring a transfer of 10,000 shares to equal a transaction in one 100 par share of ordinary stock, the security of the record is seen to have been achieved at small outlay. The regular attendance in the stock exchange room is strikingly depleted, and is manifest not only to a casual observance, but in the reduced requirements for ordinary service and also for office room. An approximation is obtained that half the total sales of stock for the present average of business would yield, in full commissions, only a few dollars a day to each of the members of the exchange. Furthermore, if the business yields only part commissions on orders from one member to another, while the room trader who operates on his own account yields no commission to any member.

Discussion is heard amongst the less serious minded of the probability of closing the New York exchange entirely on Saturdays, the two hours session proving a futility to the minds of those eager for holiday recreation. The consensus of opinion is the only adequate conception of the little importance attached to the present market. It is expected that despite the financial fluctuations in such narrow trading to consideration of such vast issues as the country's crops, the course of business and prospects as to the coming fall, the character of events of so prodigious a character to come. The present market can only be accepted as an index of profound uncertainty and lack of conviction over the future course of events, and decisive developments are awaited to dissolve the uncertainty. The next government report, due on July 10, with the first government estimate on the corn crop, may have an important effect in forming convictions, and its early appearance after the coming holiday adds to the inducements to make commitments until that period has passed.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Trust Company of America, held in New York, it was voted to reduce the capital stock from $2,500,000 to $1,000,000. It will be recalled a short time ago a plan was under discussion for merging the Trust Company of America with the North American Trust Company. Under that arrangement each of the two trust companies was to get $500,000 capital stock in a new trust company, to be organized with $1,000,000 capital. It is understood that leading interests in the Trust Company of America were opposed to such a scaling down in their capitalization, and that this was the reason the merger did not go through.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

On the return of the rule directing the officers and directors of the Standard Lead and Smelting Company to show cause before Vice Chancellor Emory at Newark, N. J., why a receiver should not be appointed, the court granted a further order for the summary hearing on July 13. The court directed that the books of accounts, many of which are in Missouri, be also produced, so that the solvency of the corporation may be shown without further delay.

Work has begun in erecting the 200-ton smelter of the Cunerguita Copper Company of New York in Mexico.

The smelter of the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power Company of Grand Forks, B. C., treated 12,709 tons of ore last week.

The Detroit Copper Company at Morenci, Ariz., is preparing to double its concentrating plant at a cost of $200,000.

The Shannon Gold Mining Company is running 10 stamps of the mill in Mohave county, Ariz., on ore from outside mines, the Midnight furnishing a large part of the tonnage.

The Post-Lambert Company in the Mt. Baker district of Washington, with a 10-stamp mill is taking out an average of $10,000 a month since the mill was placed in operation last July.

The Kendall Mining Company of Spokane, operating in the Cour d'Alenes, will pay $50,000 in dividends in July. As the company has been paying $25,000 a month the dividends next month will be double those of many years past. Large transactions in such a stock as Phoenix Mining save the record in actual number of shares transacted, but in point of value the issues shares are of a par value of one dollar, thus requiring a transfer of 10,000 shares to equal a transaction in one 100 par share of ordinary stock, the security of the record is seen to have been achieved at small outlay. The magnetic process for treating ores is reported as having been experimented with successfully by the Montezuma Lead Company at Santa Barbara, Mexico.

The Elkton Consolidated Mining and Milling Company has developed a new ore body at Cripple Creek.

A dispatch from Santa Fe, N. M., says: George B. Paxton of Red River gives further particulars regarding the new strike made there. He says that prospectors are coming in and staking the whole country adjacent to Lachiniche. Independent mine, John Lachiniche and Louis Marchino have made what is considered the best strike ever known in New Mexico. They have at present more than six feet of ore and 26 inches of what looks like sylvanite, with assays running over $1,600—$1,300 in gold and the rest in silver. The rock roasted is a mass of gold globules as large as a grain of corn.

the producers of pig iron and steel billets hid sell at the present prices there would an active market. Buyers are eager to e the product at the prices which mark few small sales being made at present, but a great majority of the furnace and steel en will not rie up their capacity on conacts at the present basis. They are willing wait until the market rises again to a point which they can operate profitably and the dications are that this will be the result. It was stated yesterday that fully 70 per of the blast furnace capacity of the Pittsrgh and middle west district will be out of st tomorrow, July 1. For a month past here has been a steady record of furnaces oing down. This week saw three such cases the Shenango, Sally, M. & O. Hazel & Cleo losing one furnace, the United States Steel rporation closed one of its Sharon stacks, d Shenango No. 3 at Sharpsville went out of ast. In the vicinity of Pittsburgh there are very furnaces which are not in operation, and ese furnaces will not resume until there have en given orders at prices fair enough to ntify operation.

The billet business is very restricted. What es are being made are on a basis of $21 to 22, whereas the association price is $22 a ton. he cut arouses little interest. The sales are o small for the important producers to take tice of favorably. It is entirely improbable that association will make a lower price. When lets are again in active demand it will not be difficult matter to secure better than the sent association price.

Fundamental Conditions Good.

The finishing mills report show that about per cent of the local capacity is operating, d, as among the furnacemen, the tendency ward refusing all business which is not had at better prices.

Pittsburgh iron man who has been for time past on an extended tour of the st west and northwest, reports conditions favorable to an unusual degree. The Hardware Market.

Orders for hardware continue to come in in very good volume, more in fact than might be expected by reason of the excessively hot weather not having as yet particularly affected the trade. Orders from salesmen for season goods and for general lines are for good quantities and for a wide lines of goods. This condition also applies to orders from the trade generally. Season goods continue to move out in large quantities, stocks gradually growing smaller and assortments very much broken. A continued good movement exists in wire nails, wire, paints, colors and varnishes, tools and builders' hardware. There is a good business in bicycle goods, the trade for bicycles and sundries keeping up remarkably well. Prices in a general way continue very firm, no particular changes of importance having taken place. The Bindley Hardware Company furnishes the following quotations:

Colored cotton batting, discount 35 per cent; Albion hatchets, discount 50 per cent; Bindley canal shovels, $6 50 a dozen; Great Western files, discount 70 and 10 per cent; sheet iron, base, No. 26, $2 85 a 100 lbs.; galvanized iron, discount 70 and 10 per cent; sash weights, a ton, $27; window glass, L, C L, 90 and 10 per cent from list October 1, 1902; Albion sewing machines, discount 25 per cent; Geneva garden tools, discount 60 and 10 per cent; Grand Rapids refrigerators, discount, 50 per cent; Gail lawn mowers, discount 40 and 10 per cent; Mohawk lawn mowers, discount 40 and 10 per cent.

WHOLE COUNTRY SHOWS A BETTER FEELING

Buyers, However, Are Taking Material Only for Immediate Requirements.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 29.—The Iron Age will say tomorrow, in review of the past week in the steel and iron trades:

A general review of the situation throughout the country, in all its leading branches, brings out the fact that there is a somewhat better feeling without anything really tangible to base it on. The demand does exist, and is reflected in a disposition among sellers to refrain from crowding the market. Buyers are taking material only for immediate requirements, and that policy seems to have been adopted even by the smallest. In those branches in which the markets are open there has been the encouragement of past success through adherence to that course. Raw materials have been suffering from the stoppage of furnaces. In one case the lake freight has got down to 70 cents for ore, whereas 90 cents to $1 was the rate. Bessemer selling down to $2 35@2 40. Coke, too, has weakened and some large sales for delivery over the next few months have been made at $1 35 at oven for strictly Connellsville furnace coke, while foundry coke has sold at $1 75. Buyers of pig iron throughout the country are acting conservatively, and in some cases are not even covering long time contracts for product at once, but take the metal as wanted for shipment. Very much business has been placed in the leading distributing centers, the volume in some cases being rather larger than usual. But the large blocks which have been in the market have not appeared as yet, among the largest lot of 30,000 tons for a western consolidation of agricultural machinery. The Cincinnati cast iron pipe order, reduced to 14,000 tons, is to be given out at an early date.

Basic and forge irons have weakened in the Pittsburgh market, a number of goodsized blocks having been placed.

A good deal of interest attaches to the second part of the contract for castings for the Pennsylvania Tunnel in this city, which involves the delivery of 104,000 tons of machine castings, over a period of four years. This, of course, does not call for any very large tonnage immediately. What little uneasiness may have existed as to the possibility of labor troubles in the sheet and tin plate trades is now dispelled by the acceptance on the part of the men of the scale of the makers.

Some fair tonnage of structural material has been placed in the Pittsburgh market, the Wabash work being a conspicuous part of it. The plate trade continues exceedingly dull, with some possibility that prices will be revised at the meeting of the association next week. The price of boiler tubes has been reduced.

NEW CROPS ARE MANY; OLD APPLES ARE DONE

New York Cherries Here—Flour Is Weak—Sugar Is Still Tending Upward.

New California plums, new Arkansas apples and new Georgia peaches arrived yesterday in small quantities. New Idaho and Oregon apples will be here before long and then quotations can be made more accurately in this line. Old apples are about out of the market here and have been for several days. There is good demand for peaches, especially for the first freestones from the south. Berry arrivals were very light yesterday; among the receipts was a car of strawberries. Cantaloupes are moving satisfactorily; arrivals yesterday were eight cars and ample. There were three cars of watermelons in and the stock commanded full prices. Tomatoes are looking up, receipts being fair. Cherries continue to arrive in several days. Thirteen cars of new potatoes were yesterday's arrivals in this line, and the cabbage receipts were 22 cars. Prices held, but in case of heavy receipts again today, further declines may be looked for. Among the new fruits yesterday were New York cherries, which are quoted below.

Flour is weak; reports on spring wheat are having considerable influence and receipts at Chicago are more than twice what they were this time. In fact, the flour situation is weak generally now. Sugar is strong and further advances are looked for this week. Rice is in good demand and is selling as well as at two weeks ago. Cheese continues to look better and eggs are on the upward trend. Sales were reported at 19½ cents for fancy stock yesterday, but quotations have not yet been changed. The average price is 18½ cents. Butter is showing improvement right along. There is a general reduction in poultry quotations and the stock is wanted more and more. There were no changes in hay or grain yesterday, markets holding about the same as Tuesday; sales were light on both corn and milifeed especially. Receipts are getting lighter right along, and this condition will likely continue for a while, because farmers are busy with new crops. It is thought that the same will be the better week that the market might show better before long.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania, 20 cars hay, 5 cars oats, 2 cars corn, 2 cars straw; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 2 cars hay, 1 car oats; Baltimore & Ohio, 2 cars hay, 2 cars oats.

Dealers charge an advance of 5 cents a bushel and $3 a ton on hay and milifeed from warehouses in less than carload lots.

RAIN IN SOUTHWEST BULLS WHEAT MARKET

Early Bearish Feeling Gives Way Later Upon Adverse Crop Reports Received.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 29.—While sentiment in the wheat pit at the first was quite bearish as a result of lower cables, reports of additional rains in the southwest prevented any great selling pressure. Initial quotations of September were a shade lower. Considerable liquidation soon developed in July. There was also much changing from July to September, affecting bearishly the nearby delivery. The weakness of July had a depressing influence on the distant futures, causing September to halt off to 80¾c. An absence of outside speculative interest emphasized the heavy tone prevailing. Toward noon, however, rumors of adverse reports regarding winter wheat were circulated. Buying by houses supposed to have these reports started the market on an upward course. News from the southwest was especially bullish. A Minneapolis crop expert's report told of damage by rain to wheat in Kansas and Missouri. The statements of this authority were partially confirmed by the report of another expert, which placed the loss in a recent survey of conditions in the southwest as big reduction in the winter wheat yield must be made. An additional bull factor that influenced traders during the last half hour was a report that considerable damage by the severe rainstorm was in progress in Oklahoma. The market closed strong and near the high point. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 19,264 bushels. Primary receipts were 212,900 bushels, compared with 307,100 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 208 cars, against 135 cars last week and 100 cars a year ago.

A feature of trading in corn was liquidation of July and the changing from that month to later deliveries. As a result of this selling, the nearby option was rather weak, but recovered near the close of the day. The September delivery was influenced by the strength of wheat and by bullish crop advices. Small receipts and a good cash demand further aided the bulls. The market closed firm, with the closest strong and at the high point. Local receipts were 172 cars, with 21 of contract grade.

A steady tone prevailed in oats. Some liquidation of July caused an easier feeling at one time, but when wheat became strong, shorts bid the price of oats up to yesterday's close. Outside of the moderate selling of July there were few offerings in the pit.

Provisions were easier on general liquidation. Commission houses were on both sides of the market, and there was a fairly large trade. Covering by shorts caused a moderate recovery, but closing prices were lower on all products.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 12 cars; corn, 253 cars; oats, 110 cars; hogs, 27,000 head.

The leading futures, reported by John D. Armstrong & Co., members of Chicago board of trade, Farmers National Bank building, are as follows:

BOARDWALK PANIC CAUSED BY MICE

Pittsburgh Man Lost His Bride for Three Hours at Atlantic City.

LOCAL GUESTS AT THE SHORE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Young's Ocean Pier.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 29.

Little Willie Fitzgerald, a newsboy, purchased six white mice today from a boardwalk merchant, and thereby hangs a tale. It was noon when Willie and his mice arrived in the vicinity of Youngs pier. The morning concert had just concluded and hundreds of persons were coming from the pier. A sudden contact with a rolling chair caused Willie to drop his box and the lid flew off. The mice leaped from their prison and havoc reigned.

If there are any who are inclined to doubt the assertion that all women are afraid of a mouse, they should have been numbered among those present when Willie's pets scampered over the boardwalk. No daughter of Eve, regardless of age or method of going, pondered on the subject. In a twinkling of an eye, and with yells, the feminine contingent got away from the tiny rodents.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Cullin of Pittsburgh, were walking along the boardwalk when the trouble started. They are here on their honeymoon. For three hours after the mice got away Mr. Cullin was busy looking for his bride.

"The pesky things popped out of the box," he explained, "and my wife was off like an Indian pony. She made a break down Hickory lane and I was deserted. I found her at the hotel."

David R. Brown is at the Seaside house for an indefinite stay.

BORAXOLOGY

The principle of the Boraxologist is, when you do anything always look for the best way. Just as there is a best way to darn socks or to make jelly, or to solve a mathematical problem, so there is a best way to do housework or wash things. Use Borax to wash dishes, to clean woodwork, to wash clothes—it doesn't matter what it is that is to be "washed," you can do it easier and quicker and better by adding a little Borax to the water. Borax has a power to cleanse that will astonish you. Imitations are worthless and injurious. Get pure BORAX.
